

BOLSHEVIKI PROMISE TO SEND AMERICAN PRISONERS OUT OF RUSSIA BY MONDAY

MEXICAN CONGRESS TO SEEK WAY TO SETTLE ROW WITH THE U. S.

MEXICO CITY, August 6.—Consideration of Article 27 of the Mexican constitution, nationalizing petroleum deposits, will begin in the Mexican congress next Monday.

More than 150 protests against the application of Article 27 will be taken up by the supreme court here next week. These have been filed with the court since 1918 by petroleum companies. It is pointed out here that the court's decision relative to these protests will have a direct bearing on the controversy as to whether the article in question is retroactive in its application.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 6.—Determination of at least a part of the Mexican congress to institute a new endeavor to render acceptable to foreign interests Article 27 of the constitution was regarded here today as indicative of the desire in Mexico to find a basis on which diplomatic relations with the United States might be restored. State department officials refused to comment, but it was made plain that the policy of the United States government had not been changed.

The proposed legislative declaration that Article 27 shall not be construed as retroactive was of peculiar interest here, since it was upon that point the United States chiefly insisted in its suggestion that a treaty of amity and commerce be signed. President Obregon held that he had no right to sign a treaty prior to the recognition of his government.

HATFIELD'S SLAYER CLAIMS HE SHOT IN SELF DEFENSE

WELCH, W. VA., Aug. 6.—Self-defense is the claim of C. E. Lively, Baldwin-Felts detective, held under bond in connection with the shooting and killing of Sid Hatfield and Ed Chambers, Mingo mountaineers, in a statement to newspaper men today.

"I regret having had to shoot either one of these men," Lively said, "but it was a case of self-defense, pure and simple."

"The gun fight on the steps of the court house lasted perhaps a quarter of a minute," the detective added.

Lively said he had been told many times that following his testimony given in the Matewan trial last February, Hatfield had threatened to take his life. "I knew that if Sid got what he considered a 'good chance' it would be either his life or mine," Lively asserted.

Lively had posed as a union coal miner at Matewan following the battle there in May, 1920, in which ten men were killed, and had testified against Hatfield, Chambers and other co-defendants in the trial at Williamson.

Speaking of the Welch fight, the detective said he was sitting on a balcony outside the court house when Hatfield, Chambers and their wives approached. I happened to look down the steps and there stood Sid Hatfield, Ed Chambers and their wives on the first landing. They were looking at me, and exchanged glances, nodding their heads. Sid said something to Ed I could not hear. Suddenly they stepped apart. I could see Sid's jaws set like a steel trap. Both men pulled their guns. As they did so, I jumped to my feet and pulled mine. Sid fired at me and I immediately shot back."

Lively continued: "I had two pistols and was using both. Sid staggered and fell as did Chambers immediately afterward. Then Mrs. Chambers attacked me with her umbrella. I grabbed the umbrella, threw it away and then walked over to the office of A. C. Huffard, justice of the peace, and surrendered. The report that I shot into Chambers' body while he was lying on the steps dead is an absolute falsehood."

W. C. Mitchell, chief of police at Welch, stated that after the fight he took a pistol, still warm, and containing empty shells, from beside Chambers and found a two-inch barreled gun in a trouser pocket of Hatfield.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—All the American prisoners in Moscow and Petrograd will be sent across the Russian border by Monday at the latest, according to a message received here today by Walter L. Brown, European director of the American relief administration, from Leo Kamenoff, chairman of the Russian relief committee.

The telegram from M. Kamenoff, dated Moscow, August 5, read as follows: "All Americans detained at Moscow, Petrograd, in prisons and camps will be sent over the frontier tomorrow or by August 8, at the latest. The delay is due to unavoidable formalities connected with granting free pardons. The central authorities are unaware of any Americans being interned or in prison in provincial places, but orders have been given for the release of Americans if there are any."

"M. Litvinoff, a member of the all-Russian commission for combating famine, is leaving for Riga on August 8, and is due to arrive there on August 10. He is authorized to discuss with you and to arrange all details for American relief in Russia and to sign an agreement, and proposes to meet with you Wednesday at the Russian legation at Riga."

Chosen For New Operating Board By Shipping Head

Two members appointed to the new board of operations of the emergency fleet corporation by Chairman Lasker of the shipping board are William J. Love of New York and A. J. Frey of Los Angeles. During the war Love served as director of trades and allocations under the shipping control committee. Frey was formerly in charge of the ship construction division of the Southern Pacific district of the shipping board.

CHICAGO, August 6.—Governor Len Small announced here today that he would return to Springfield Tuesday. Sheriff Meador of Sangamon county holds warrants at Springfield for the governor's arrest on charges of embezzlement of state funds while he was state treasurer.

The governor said he would postpone his good roads tour until Friday of next week in order to return to the capital.

The governor issued the following statement: "So that my traducers shall not be permitted, through their newspaper mouthpieces, to misrepresent my official course, in performing my duties, I shall not resume my good roads tour until Friday of next week."

"I expect to finish my official business here today, and shall be in Springfield Tuesday morning." (Signed) "LEN SMALL, GOVERNOR"

Small To Return To Springfield

LANCASTER, N. H., Aug. 6.—President and Mrs. Harding said goodbye today to their vacation retreat here at the top of Mount Prospect, where they have been the guests since Tuesday of Secretary of War Weeks.

Leaving this morning by automobile, the party planned to have lunch at Poland Springs, Maine, and in the evening to board the presidential yacht Mayflower, at Portland, for their return voyage to Washington.

The president probably will spend most of the afternoon at Poland Springs playing golf. During the late afternoon he is expected to go into Portland and call on Mrs. Matthew Hale, and mother of Senator Frederic Hale, who has been a member of the Mount Prospect vacation party.

The Mayflower will sail about 10 o'clock tonight.

She said that Mr. Kinkead was probably 52 years old and had been married only once.

Mr. Kinkead's body will be brought to Cincinnati for burial, Miss Gormanley said.

Machine Makes Every Man His Own Stamp Printer

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—New York was introduced today to the postage meter, a machine which makes every man his own stamp printer and does away with the necessity of sticking them on. The National City Bank has the first one exhibited here.

The machine, recently approved by the post department, operates on a principle similar to that of the government's automatic cancelling machines. As the letters are run through it, a square about the size of a stamp is printed, in which appear the words, "U. S. Postage—Paid 2c."

The machine is equipped with a register which can be set only by post office authorities. When the register shows the user has stamped as many letters as he paid for, the machine stops and has to be taken to the post office to be reset.

DEMOCRATS WAITING PASSAGE OF TARIFF AND TAX MEASURES BEFORE OPENING ATTACK ON REPUBLICANS

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1921 by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Chairman George White has decided to call the Democratic national committee together some time this autumn for a general discussion of Democratic policy toward the Harding administration.

The time of the meeting has not been fixed but probably will be immediately after the Republicans have passed a new tax bill and the country has had a chance to learn definitely what has been done by the Republican party on tax revision.

Give Republicans Chance
Thus far the Democrats have maintained a policy of passive resistance to Republican doctrines, believing that the country wanted to give the new administration a fair chance to make good without Democratic obstruction. When the tax and tariff bills are passed, however, the Democrats who already take exception to the Republican proposals will endeavor to convince the country that those policies are wrong and can be corrected only by the election of a Democratic congress a year hence.

President Taft lost congress immediately after passage of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law and the Democrats are hoping that history will repeat itself. They are basing their hopes, however, not so much on the tariff but on taxes. The Democrats say Secretary Mellon's proposals mean merely that people whose income is below $5,000 a year will be taxed higher than before while those whose incomes above $100,000 will have their taxes reduced. Of course, Secretary Mellon's suggestions have not yet been adopted and the Republicans in Congress may yet deprive the Democrats of much of their ammunition. (Continued on Page Six)

PHOTOGRAPHS BY WIRELESS ACROSS OCEAN

ANNAPOLIS, MD., August 6.—Transmission of photographs and written documents in fac simile across the ocean by wireless has been accomplished. Two successful tests of this epoch-making invention have been made within the last three days at the powerful naval radio station here, a photograph and a written message having been sent to Malmalson, the French radio station.

Two French government engineers are now in Annapolis preparing for further tests, which, they believe, will prove the invention a complete success within a very short time.

The first test of the invention was the sending of a photograph of the recent Dempsey-Carpentier championship fight from the Annapolis station to France for reproduction in Le Matin, a Paris newspaper.

While the reproduction was said to have been fairly good, it was not as perfect as the engineers wished it to be. So yesterday afternoon another test was made.

This test was the sending of a fac simile written message from C. V. Van Ande, managing editor of the New York Times, to Le Matin, the Paris newspaper. Word came back that the message was reproduced almost perfectly.

NEW YORK, August 6.—Miss Oliva M. P. Stone, a graduate nurse, formerly of Cincinnati, was told today that she killed Ellis Kinkead, attorney and former corporation counsel of Cincinnati, when she fired six shots into his body near his home in Brooklyn late yesterday.

The young woman was too hysterical last night to be told that Mr. Kinkead was dead and the police told her the bullet she fired had taken effect in his legs. She swooned after the shooting, into the arms of a detective who rushed up to disarm her.

Miss Stone, according to the police, admitted the shooting and declared Kinkead was her common law husband and that he had desired her to marry another woman.

Mr. Kinkead had lived here since 1919 with the former Miss Marie Louise Gormley, of Covington, Ky., whom he married in Cincinnati.

"I do not remember shooting Kinkead," were Miss Stone's first words when brought to a police station today.

Weeping, she told police she bought a revolver in Cincinnati three weeks ago, but only for her protection, asserting she had come here solely to seek reconciliation with Kinkead.

To reporters she said: "You boys have not told the truth about me."

NURSE KILLS ATTORNEY KINKEAD IN NEW YORK

With the number of complaints from victims of the robbers growing, officials of several smaller Kansas towns were reported to be investigating mysterious murders in their localities on the theory that the "high jackers" may have committed them. There have been five or more unexplained killings in the Kansas wheat belt in the last month, the victims having been supposed harvest hands.

Special efforts are being made in all of the wheat belt towns, it was said, to ascertain whether the "high jackers" operations are the work of an organized band or whether the men are individual criminals.

'HIGH JACKERS' TERRORIZE WHEAT BELT IN KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, MO., Aug. 6.—Bandits termed "high jackers" who are making a business of riding freight trains in the wheat belt of Kansas and certain parts of Oklahoma, robbing harvest hands, are becoming more bold and are receiving increasing attention from local authorities in those states, according to reports reaching here today.

"High jackers" activities, which have been reported almost daily throughout the harvest season, reached a climax when two of the robbers attempted to hold up a party of former soldiers and harvest hands aboard a freight train running between Kechi and Furley, Kansas, Wednesday night. The former soldiers, who had just been discharged from a Texas army camp, began shooting and in the exchange of shots that followed, one man said to have been a "high jacker" was killed and four of the former soldiers and harvest hands injured. The remaining robbers escaped after a terrific fight in which he threw half a dozen of his opponents from the moving train.

CLEVELAND, O., August 6.—General Pietro Badoglio, chief of staff of the Italian army, who is touring the country as the guest of the United States, will be met by a large delegation of citizens on his arrival here this evening. The general will deliver an address here tonight. Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald will welcome the general and former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker, will speak on behalf of the army.

BROKER IS MURDERED; WOMAN IS ARRESTED

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Aug. 6.—John B. Kennedy, 26, Los Angeles insurance broker, was shot and killed late last night as he was entering his summer cottage at Beverly Hills, an exclusive residential suburb. Mrs. Madeline Oberchain, of Evanston, Ill., who was with him, was held as a material witness.

Mrs. Oberchain, who said she formerly was the wife of R. R. Oberchain, Chicago attorney, from whom she was divorced, told the sheriff's deputies that Kennedy was shot from behind, and that she afterwards saw two roughly dressed men disappear in some bushes.

The shooting occurred shortly before midnight, but no report was made to the county authorities until early today. Deputies found the back of Kennedy's head had been blown off, apparently by a shot from a shot gun.

Mrs. Oberchain said she and Kennedy motored to a beach resort early in the day, returning late in the evening. They had planned to dine at a country club, but finding it closed, went to Kennedy's cottage. They stopped, she said, at the entrance while she looked for a "lucky penny" she had buried there, as they were searching for the coin the shot was fired.

Mrs. Lizzie Desentry, a neighbor, told the Beverly Hills police she heard two shots, followed by the screaming of Mrs. Oberchain. She said she saw an automobile disappearing down a drive near the cottage.

Examination of Kennedy's clothing showed he had a number of important papers, and a wallet containing $50. Several articles of jewelry worn by him had not been disturbed.

Police records here show that Kennedy was attacked and beaten on the street about four years ago by two men who he said were strangers to him.

Standing Jest On New York Brides

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The New World today disclosed a standing jest, it says has been perpetrated for years by architects of the million dollar St. Thomas' Episcopal church on the dozens of fashionable brides who have gone to the altar through the famous "Bride's Door" since the church was completed ten years ago.

Carved into the granite capital over the door, says the newspaper, is a huge dollar sign—slightly conventionalized, but unmistakable.

E. Donald Robb, architect, who was head draftsman for Cram, Goodhue and Ferguson, designers of the church, is quoted as having admitted designing the dollar mark, saying it was "done for fun," and asserting he couldn't see that it was a subject for newspaper comment.

Rev. Mr. D. Ernest M. Stires, rector of St. Thomas, said he believed the dollar mark story was "a figment of the imagination."

SPAIN DEALT A HARD BLOW IN MOROCCO

MADRID, Aug. 6.—Spanish forces which were landed at La Restinga, on the Moroccan coast southeast of Melilla, for the purpose of attacking the right wing of the Moorish tribesmen fighting against the Spanish troops in that district, have encountered serious resistance and their advance has been held up temporarily. An official statement issued here at midnight last night said, however, that the Spanish cruiser Cataluna is protecting the troops that have been landed and bombarding the enemy at Soco Arbas.

Little doubt remains that Spain has suffered a serious reverse in Morocco and that the situation at Melilla threatens to become critical. Reports that the cabinet of Premier Alcala-Salazar may resign and immigrant LONDON, August 6.—(By the Associated Press)—General Navarro, commander of the Spanish troops in the Melilla area who was reported by Spain to have abandoned the position at Mount Arruit, south of Melilla, to which he had retreated under the recent fierce attack by the Moorish rebels, is still holding out against the Moors at Mount Arruit, it is declared in an official dispatch received here from Madrid this afternoon. The message was timed at 5:30 p. m. Friday.

PRISONER WAS GLAD TO GET BEHIND THE BARS; NARROWLY ESCAPED BEING MOBBED AT FIREBRICK

The little village of Firebrick, Ky., four miles west of South Portsmouth, was the scene of an exciting incident early Saturday morning which came near resulting in the rough handling of a negro who gave the name of James C. Vanbold, 25 years old, by a posse of men who captured him after, it is claimed, he frightened Miss Carrie Haywood, 16 years old, daughter of a prominent family of the village. According to advices received from Firebrick, the negro was discovered hiding in an outbuilding in the rear of her home by the young woman, when she went there on an errand. Although the intruder is said not to have offered any violence toward the girl, his presence there badly frightened her and her screams attracted a number of men to the scene. By this time the negro had fled but he was pursued across a field and captured by the men, a number of whom is said to have attempted to assault him, but were restrained until the arrival of an officer who hurried Vanbold to the county jail at Vanceburg for fear of violence.

When questioned the prisoner was unable to give any satisfactory explanation of his presence in the vicinity, although he protested that he meant to do no harm to the young woman. Because of the threatening attitude of the crowd at Firebrick, the prisoner expressed his thanks to the officers whether landed him safely behind the bars at Vanceburg.

A Good Representative—Why Not A Good Mayor?

Hon. George M. Matthews,
Portsmouth, Ohio.

June 13, 1921

My dear George:

I desire to express my appreciation of your friendly spirit of co-operation shown to the Department of Auditor of State during the recent session of the General Assembly. The interests of the state are best subserved through such co-operative effort. The legislation introducing business-like methods in this department will result in better service at less cost.

If at any time we can serve you by securing information upon any phase of legislation in which you are interested, or if we can accommodate you personally in any way, I assure you it will be a pleasure to do so.

I most heartily congratulate you on your splendid record in the House of Legislation. Your judgment on all public questions was of much value to the state. In the future you can look back to your service in the House with the satisfaction of a public duty conscientiously and well performed which, after all, is the REAL compensation of a public servant.

Come in and see me whenever you are up this way. With kindest personal regards, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Body Of Private Skaggs Arrives Here

The body of Private Herbert Skaggs who was killed while fighting with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, will be buried in Greenlawn cemetery, Tuesday, having arrived in the city Friday evening from Hoboken, N. J. where it was brought from overseas.

The remains of Private Skaggs were taken to the DuCher morgue upon their arrival in the city, but will be removed to the home of his father, Henry Skaggs, 1104 Mill street, from which place the funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Private Skaggs was a member of Co. B, 100 U. S. Infantry of the famous rainbow divisions. Besides his father he is survived by the following sisters, Mrs. John A. Smith of this city, and Misses Emma, Sara, Grace and Poka Skaggs, of Wayne, W. Va.

Merit Badges Awarded To Honor Scouts

One of the largest and most successful meetings of the local Boy Scout Court of Honor was held Friday night, Aug. 5.

The meeting was held for the purpose of examining Merit Badge applications and ten scouts were present with applications ranging in number from one to ten.

Fifty-one Merit Badges were approved by examiners Griffith and Griffin and five were rejected. The number passed lacks but one of being the largest number of Merit badges ever passed at one Court of Honor meeting. Fifty-two Merit badges having been taken at one time last year.

Several honors will now be awarded as a result of the Court of Honor meeting. Most noteworthy of these will go to Gilbert Fuller of Nature troop, by taking five Merit badges he became an Eagle Scout, thus attaining the highest honor possible in scout work. Nelson Moore took ten Merit badges thus equalling the record of Paul Holstetter who also passed ten at one time last year. The Merit Badge in Blacksmithing which had never been taken by any Portsmouth Scout, was passed by Monk of Troop 3, and Pride of Troop 1, they having done the work required in a blacksmith's shop near the Scout Camp on Kinnelburg.

The Scouts who took Merit badges and the ones they passed are as follows: Nelson Moore, Nature Troop, first aid to animals, Forestry, Swimming, public health, personal health, first aid, scholarship, firemanship, surveying, handicraft. Ralph Monk, Troop 3, safety first, canoeing, cooking, carpentry, craftsmanship, handicraft, blacksmithing, cycling. Laurence Kimble, Nature Troop, first aid to animals, pioneering, forestry, public health, personal health, firemanship.

Auto Goes Over Bank

A Ford touring car, driven by Noto K. DeLong, plumber, 1409 Union street plunged over the embankment into the old Scioto canal, at Dry Run, about 10 o'clock Friday evening.

Mr. DeLong who had his wife, family and two neighbor children out for an evening ride, had attempted to back out of the Dry Run road, to get on the West Side road, when his reverse gear stuck causing the car to go over the embankment which is eight or ten feet deep at this point.

Mr. DeLong suffered a sprain of the left elbow. His wife hurt her right arm in the resulting fall. None of the children were hurt. One little girl, who is still suffering from the effects of an attack of infantile paralysis, and is not able to walk, was not injured.

The Ford was badly wrecked. Henry Bagel, Ford repair man, was called to the scene of the accident. The windshield of the car was smashed, and the top was crushed in on the occupants. It was driven in on its own power.

Swimming Pool Is Popular

During the hot weather, everyone is taking an interest in water sports, and this has made the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool at the Auditorium very popular, particularly with the children.

Mothers are assured that their youngsters will be properly looked after, during their visits there, as competent people have been secured to serve during each hour given over to Y. M. C. A. patrons. From now on the admission for plunges will be twenty-five cents to all persons. Miss Mary Margaret Fuller has been appointed hostess and will be on duty all the time, assisted by various ones for each day.

A merry crowd took plunges during Friday afternoon and evening, being chaperoned by Mrs. Charles Waldron and Miss Madeline Ruel. Tuesday morning from nine to ten will be given over to children's plunges, the youngsters to be in charge of Miss Dorothy Berard. The afternoon and evening plunges on Tuesday will be in charge of Mrs. Howard E. Newman and Mrs. Robert Bryan and Miss Dorothy Berard.

If there are any who wish to have lessons, they may call the Y. M. C. A., and a teacher will be secured for the time appointed.

Piketon Fair Is Success; Closed Friday

Piketon fair came to a close yesterday afternoon with an excellent bill of races. Featured by well-contested matches and some close heats. A good crowd was in attendance throughout the afternoon, many motoring in from other counties to see the races.

The largest stable on the grounds was that of Fred Hatfield of Ironton, who played well up to the fore in every race. In the 2:15 pace the first of the main races, Hatfield, driving for Brook Copper of Ironton, brought the Copper horse, Joe Boggs, in ahead of his own entry, Henry Direct, driven by Fred Weaver, who finished second.

The first race to be run was a drive-off between Nettie McKlainer and Melrose Axwater, each of which had won two heats in the 2:18 trot Thursday. Nettie McKlainer took the heat in 2:22 1-2.

The county green trot and pace was the first event on the regular program. Arthur S., owned and driven by Cyrus Dick of Piketon, won the race by taking the first two heats. Rose Bud, with Ed Scott of Piketon, the owner, driving, was second in both heats. The winner's time was 2:22 1-4.

Joe Boggs took the next race, the 2:18 pace, taking three straight heats after the first when Henry Direct led under the wire. Henry Direct placed second in every heat after the first when he made the distance in 2:18 1-4. Joe Boggs' time was 2:22 1-4.

The 2:24 pace went three heats before the winner showed up in the running. Malover took the first heat in 2:25. Brown Joe took the second in 2:25 1-4 and Dan Ashlin took the third and fourth. The fifth, with only heat winners running, went to Dan Ashlin, whose best time was 2:23 1-4. Brown Joe finished second in the three final heats with Malover taking the third position.

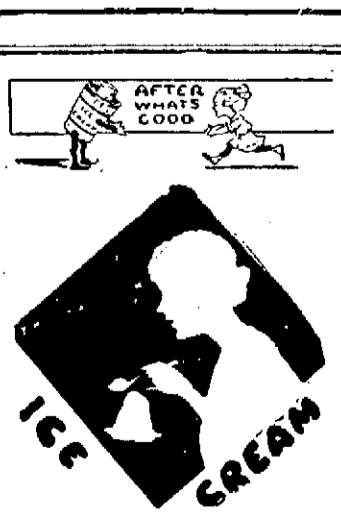

Little Jerry of the Hatfield stable, winner of the 2:27 trot, was unable to finish better than second in the first three heats which went to Lord Lewis, West Virginia and Caroline Mobel. Little Jerry took the two final heats and the race, although his best time 2:29 1-4 was three seconds over that of West Virginia who stepped the distance in 2:26 1-4 for the best time of the race.

The winners of the race yesterday will be on hand when the Lucasville Fair opens next week and by their performance yesterday some hotly contested races are to be looked for. Dr. Joseph Lake will act as starter at that time. C. Phillips of Xenia was starter of the Piketon races.

Letters From Our Readers

Editor Daily Times:

Will you please allow one interested in public affairs enough space to reply to the letter written to you by one who signs as a Scotville Republican?

I am rather surprised that my friend begins to finish before the real skirmish begins. He begs that we give Harding a chance. It seems to me a lack of sportsmanship, a lack of courage to run up the white flag before a real shot has been fired. But what else might we expect from an organization that for the past two years has bent its entire energies toward a thing, namely, dirty politics and griping criticism of everything connected with the best administration since the greatest statesman of the centuries, Woodrow Wilson?

I want to know did you give Wilson a chance during the last two years of his term? Did you give him a chance when he signed the infamous "Round Robin" after assuring the president that with certain changes the treaty would be acceptable to the Republican party. Was that action fair when the nation's chief was striving with the imperial robbers of the old world, that the treaty should be drawn so as not to endanger future wars? You may rest assured that Harding is getting his chance to usher in the millennium. The Democratic party is following the counsel of its fearless leader James M. Cox, who, heroic in defeat, observed that he hoped the Democratic party would not stoop to the political sabotage practiced against Woodrow Wilson to the detriment of the American people.

If my friend's memory is good he remembers that during the campaign that Harding and his cohorts deluded millions of people by representing to them that the ship of state was drifting into uncharted seas and that business conditions warranted an economic revolution through both employee and employer were making more money than ever before and even the common day laborer lived like a king. He remembers that laborers were told that the cost of living would come down and wages stay intact. He remembers that high taxation was decreed and yet the other day the secretary of the treasury intimated that taxation reduction is impossible at this time. He remembers that Harding said, "Less government in business" and yet the other day he asked for $100,000,000 with which to subsidize foreign exportation. He remembers that the Wilson foreign policy was the cause of the new administration. He remembers that the League of Nations, by the new administration. He remembers Harding's statement that he would keep faith with the Service Men. (I have that statement from his own lips), and yet the other day he cracked the executive whip (which was so ominous to him as a congressman) and said that he was further consideration of the bonus bill. The solution of that order is easy as it came from his secretary of treasury, the head of the money barons to whom he owes the presidency. Of course, a bonus would necessitate more taxation and the president does not want to offend his most valuable friends. So he might continue this abuse but this is sufficient to set my friend thinking. These are some of the things of which the American public have begun to think. An outraged electorate is thinking today as it has never thought before. The public mind is slowly recovering from the confusion into which it was thrown a year ago.

My friend seems positive that the Wilson administration was responsible for the business depression of 1914. I suppose the panic of 1903 can be charged to Grover Cleveland who was put into possession of a treasury that had been looted by the previous Republican administration. I suppose that the effect of the Wilson administration was retroactive and also caused the panic of 1907. It beggars and ruins houses. He says that we saved our coat in 1914. What would have happened had no war started? It humbly submit that that depression would not have assumed serious proportions, thanks to the greatest banking law ever put on a statute book. I refer to the Federal Reserve Banking Law. You know how the Republican party fought that law at the request of Wall street. Any economic expert in the country will tell you that that law because of its redemptive feature, and the fact that it broke down the rigidity of the reserves of the old law saved our coat in 1914 and mark you that same law is saving our very hide in 1921 A. D. No longer can Wall Street by calling in its monetary exchange shake the confidence of business in every nook and corner of the land and precipitate a panic for the U. S. Government will manufacture exchange. Thank Woodrow Wilson for that.

My friend closes by saying that it is too much to expect Harding to build up in four months what it took Wilson eight years to tear down. Indeed he cannot be serious. If he is he has read history with his best eye closed. Apparently he has missed the brightest page of American legislation. That page is embodied in such a part of our legislation as the Federal Reserve law, the Rural Credits law, Labor reform, etc. My friend thinks that nothing can be accomplished in four months. Does he expect congress to keep in session until March 4, 1925? Harding is having his chance and at the rate he is now going he will still be fizzling when the above date rolls around.

In closing I wish to inform my friend that when the campaign of 1920 rolls around the Democratic party will indulge in no shadow boxing. No quarter was asked in 1920, none will be given in 1921. My friend I already hear the rumblings of an outraged citizenship and unless conditions change it will speak in no uncertain terms and its mandate will be emphatic. Signed: LET US HAVE TRUTH.

Editor Times:

I notice in your editorials of yesterday that you make the remark in a rather poor way, "That it will be a cold day when Ireland gets her freedom." I would like to ask on what you base your opinion?

It seems rather an extravagant expression for any 100 per cent American citizen to make at this particular time, when the eyes of the whole world are centered on the outcome of the peace conference between England and Ireland. It is the wish of every 100 per cent American citizen that an amicable peace will be affected between those two warring nations.

We all understand the devastations of any war, but in this particular war, it is a mighty nation against a small, weak nation; and the destruction of life and property, and the hardships and privations borne by the women and children ought not to be an object of scoff or to be laughed at by any civilized nation or individual.

If we go into the history of the war we will find that we are the cause of it, as it was our country or us that sold during the late war: "Democracy for the world." "Self-Determination for small nations." Are you not familiar with those sayings? Those were the assurances that lured Ireland on to declare her independence, for she felt sure those remarks came from authority, and millions of people think as Ireland does, that she had a right to do just what she is doing.

While you may have inserted this remark unthoughtfully, however, it has caused comment, especially at a time of this kind when people are under such a strain from wars, and rumors of wars, and its horrors.

Your opinion is "that it will be Christmas, or cold weather before Ireland gets her freedom." For your information I will give you my opinion on this subject, and it is that "Ireland is going to gain her independence and it will be before cold weather."

Would be glad to hear your further opinion on the subject in question through the columns of your paper.

Respectfully submitted,

R. M. DONAHUE.

Wisely Answered.

I am clearly for following Thimble's advice, who being once asked how he would marry his daughter, whether to one that was poor but honest, or to one that was rich but of an ill reputation, made answer: "I had rather have a man without an estate than an estate without a man."—Cleero.

BASIL KING'S

Directed by
T. Hayes Hunter

Starting Next Week, Monday at the Eastland Theatre Rex Beach will Present Basil King's Powerful Story of the Unseen World, "Earthbound." Direct from the Astor Theatre New York City, one of the Screen's Greatest Photoplays.

"No God... No sin... No future life... Nothing but the survival of the fittest and every man for himself." That was the ruthless creed by which two men lived. They thought it had brought them success and riches until one of them was forced to sacrifice his wife upon the altar of that creed. Then he killed Dick Desborough, the man he had looked upon as his best friend, but Dick, even after death, was not free to progress. His spirit was forced to remain earthbound until he was willing to be guided by the higher creed that "love is the great progressive force both in this world and what we call the next."

In showing "Earthbound" at the Eastland next week we feel that we are offering the supreme achievement of motion picture art. It is an event which no one who thinks in the higher terms of life can afford to miss.

gelist Neighbor. If any one has a question concerning any portion of God's Word you may hand it in, either before or at the Sunday morning service as this hour will be devoted to the answering of such questions as may be handed in or asked at that service.

Preaching at 2:30 p. m. Subject,

"Signs of the Times."

The closing message of the campaign will be brought at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday night at 7:30 the pastor wishes to meet at the church all those who wish to unite with us, so that arrangements can be made for baptism.

Tire And Motometer Stolen

City Auditor Earl Chandler was on the warpath Saturday. He is looking for the thief, who stole an extra tire from his machine and his $15

motometer. The police were notified.

Sciotoville Tent Meetings

Two splendid messages were brought by Evangelist Neighbor on Thursday and Friday nights of this week.

On Thursday night the subject was

"Naaman, the Leper" and last night a special message was brought to the new converts and those who were restored during the meetings.

The message of last evening was especially helpful and instructive.

Our Brother Neighbor hits straight from the shoulder and is absolutely fearless in the ministry of the word.

How badly such preachers are needed in these days of apostasy; preachers who are fearless and have hearts filled with love for those to whom they minister. Such men are few in number these days. May God increase the number.

Souls are finding God from night to night as they sit under these straight-forward messages from the Old Book.

There is none of this modern dostructive higher criticism preached at these meetings nor from the pulpit of

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woe, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—Will you please tell me the date of the examination for the city teachers.
U. C. T.
The time has not been set but will be announced later in the daily press.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please answer a few questions for me, if so I will be very glad. (1) If you are a girl of 15 years old and go to the country can they bring you back and make you go to school if your parents give their consent to remain? (2) Can you get any color of pounce you want as I never saw but one color. (3) How much longer can you wear white shoes? (4) Would it be all right to make a gingham hat to match a gingham dress? (5) Is it proper to rise and shake hands when introduced? (6) Would it be all right to give a masquerade party in August and if you are asked and walk up Chillicothe street, would they arrest you? (7) How is my writing? Thanking you very much.
IGNORANT.

(1) If you are through the seventh grade you are privileged to remain. (2) Pounce comes in only the natural color. (3) White shoes are usually worn through September, according to the weather, of course. (4) Hats to match dresses are very popular at present. (5) The courteous thing is to rise when being introduced. (6) Any one is permitted to entertain with a masquerade party, and unless the participants are overly hoisterous, they will not be arrested. (7) Your writing is very good, but your spelling needs to be improved. Read your letter above and you may notice where I have made corrections.

Dear Miss Wise—Can you tell me in which month the eggs of wild turkeys, geese, quail and pheasants are hatched.
WANT TO KNOW.
The nesting season for turkeys is in June, for geese and quail is June; for quail, June and for pheasants, May, June, July and August.

Dear Dolly—May we ask you would it be all right for the lady voters to request the candidates for city offices for their views on the so-called new and old time? It means so much to us.
DOLLY.
Surely you may ask their views on anything.

Miss Wise—Can you tell me how many pounds there are in a bushel of grapes?
QUESTION.
Approximately 48 pounds.

Dear Miss Wise—I am a young man of twenty-three. I am in love with a girl to whom I would like to become engaged. Will you please tell me the correct way to ask her? CUPID.
Proposals are usually rather blunt and far from the way the man or woman would plan the wedding. Suppose you send me an envelope so that I can give you a personal answer (and spare my blushes).

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa.—“I was not able to do my housework and had to lie down most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular, sometimes five or seven months apart and when they did appear would last for two weeks and were very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctored but without any improvement. A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it, I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did.”—Mrs. J. S. LITTLE, 3455 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa.

How much harder the daily tasks of a woman become when she suffers from such distressing symptoms and weakness as did Mrs. Little. Such trouble may be speedily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

CUTICURA HEALS SKIN TROUBLE

On Baby's Cheek and Chin: Burned and Itched. Face Very Much Disfigured.

“My eight-month-old boy broke out on one cheek and on his chin with dark, reddish spots, and when scratched scales formed. They burned and itched and he rubbed them a good deal, and he would scratch at night and cry. His face was very much disfigured.”

“I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I noticed an improvement right away and I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap when he was healed.” (Signed) Mrs. P. B. Miller, Box 552, Thayer, Mo., Jan. 26, 1921.

Mr. Rogers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Rogers, Sr., of Wilson, N. C., and is a foreman at the N. & W. shops.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers have taken up their residence at 1122 Fourth street.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

ARLINE'S METHODS

“Little spit-fire,” he reflected, as he found himself looking at the spot from which, Cherry had fled.

“This thought became suddenly concerned with how he should face the fair Arline, after his philandering of the night before. Ned shook his shoulders and twice as he walked along towards his office. He felt very penitent for his conduct towards his secretary. It was doubly mean to kiss a girl who was in love with you, that he well knew, and Arline was, and always had been that.

His feet seemed weighted with lead as he turned them finally into his own factory yard and walked up the steps to his office in a state of apprehension.

Arline rose up cool and fluffy to greet him as he entered. She looked like a white rose, dewy eyed and altogether lovely. Ned was grateful for her evident “forgetfulness” of his advances of the night before. After all, Arline was a sensible girl. She was not one of your silly, reproachful, hysterical women, who took advantage of a fellow's weakness to further her own interests. She was “square,” and played a fair game always. It was a damned shame that she could not find some man to really love, for she could make such a man a wonderful wife. Poor little Arline!

“Good morning, Arline,” was all he uttered, despite his thoughts of her. “I hope you had a good night's rest, and feel like doing some hard work this morning, for we have plenty to tackle.”

“I feel simply marvelous today,” Ned answered, letting her lashes sweep her cheeks in a way he had often admired in the dim past, but she said nothing more.

“The family seemed a little bit out of kink at breakfast just now,” Ned volunteered. “Too must party, I guess. Now you look as calm and fresh as ever. Funny how some women show the marks of a few late hours.”

“Yes, Cherry did look a bit fagged when I saw her just now,” said Arline, evenly, looking over a pile of correspondence as she spoke. “And yet she is a city girl and I should think used to late hours and everything else that go to make up city ways.”

Ned was surprised at her words, for to him Cherry had seemed fresh as a mountain daisy. Maybe he was blind to everything but her perfections while the outside world could see clearly.

She seemed tired and not a bit eager to go to work, poor child. I felt sorry to see her go,” went on Arline, settling herself briskly before her typewriter, efficiency, health and unbounded energy in every line of her young figure.

“Come, now, Ned, I'm all ready. Here's an awful bunch of letters we must get off to Chicago today. Put on your thinking cap and forget there was such a thing as a divine dance last night,” shutting her eyes momentarily for half an instant as she said this and coloring ever so slightly as if in response to some emotion stronger than herself in its intensity.

Yum! Yum! But It Is Good

Take Plan, wholesale baker, of Eleventh street, most certainly lived up to his reputation of “baker and caterer at your service,” when he walked into the Times office Friday afternoon, just before the battery of linotypes ceased their constant clicking and laid upon the counters a great basket of bread. 50 loaves of 18 ounces each, fresh and hot from the oven, which he presented to the force with his compliments. The bread was made from Rice flour and better bread never came from the oven. Mr. Plan will carry a large advertisement in Sunday's Sun-Times announcing the fact that beginning on Monday, August 8, he will add Rice Bread to his repertoire, and that it can be found at all leading groceries. The bread, which admitted to be very nutritious, is baked from selected rice flour, recommended as the world's best food. The loaves will weigh 18 ounces.

When Mr. Plan entered the office, wearing that smile for which he has become famous, he rolled in no uncertain tones: “Cheer up, folks. Jake says hard times are not coming—just soft times going—eat this bread and grow fat.” And you better believe there was a scramble for that big basket.

B. & O. TEAM VS. ALL STARS SUNDAY

The crack B. & O. ball team of Chillicothe will invade this section Sunday afternoon when the speedy warriors from the Ancient Metropolis come for a battle with Gabe's All Stars at the Millbrook yard.

The railroad crew is one of the fastest outfits in this part of the state and entirely capable of giving Gabe's men a stiff argument if their past performances count for anything as they have downed some strong ball clubs and have a string of victories as long as Jack Dempsey's reach, this year.

“Hot Ed Rollins will likely tag ‘Jeffy’ Townsend to serve up his tantalizing shoots in an effort to hold the invaders in check while his colleagues are trying to use their war-clubs in an effective attack on the output of the enemy hurler. This promises to be a real ball game and a treat for the lovers of the great national sport. The visitors are expected to make the journey here by motor and will arrive in plenty of time to get in action at three o'clock when Jack Hartledge, who will be the judge of play, will set the boys to work.

Peculiar Chinese Industries. In Taichow there are some strange industries. One is the raising of the machi, a sort of large pheasant, the tail feathers of which are very valuable, as they are needed for the dress hats of mandarins. Timber is very plentiful in this district and is sent away by raft to all parts.

On Farming. “Father,” asked Johnny, “what is the difference between farming and agriculture?” “Well, my son, for farming you need a plow and a harrow and other implements, and for agriculture all you need is a pencil and a piece of paper.”—Baltimore Sun.

Venus Returns to Her Mate

By HAROLD SINCLAIRE

Marie Powers had met young Aldis Blake at a village party two months previous. There never seemed a pair so mated as they to one another. After a week of picnic pleasures and woodland ramblings that now came up before Marie's imagination like some beautiful dream, Aldis returned to his home, fifty miles distant.

Young Blake made a practical tad of pique. He boasted the ownership of “Silver Wing,” a carrier that had won the prize for the longest sustained flight on record. The week he spent at Wilford had been occupied in training some of these pets. The evening of his departure he had sauntered down to the Powers home, a small portable cage in his hand.

“I wonder if you would accept a gift from me, Miss Powers?” he said, as they sat in the garden in the moonlight, and Marie thrilled at the tenderness in his tones.

“I should cherish any reminder of the pleasant hours we have spent together,” she said frankly.

“Then I am going to leave Juno with you.”

Aldis removed both doves from the cage. Venus cooed in a melancholy way as her partner was carried into the house by Marie. The bird would have flown frantically to the company of its mate if Aldis had not restrained it.

“Some day,” said Aldis softly, as he arose to take leave of Marie, “I am going to send Venus with a message. I have every reason to believe that within a month the great family lawsuit, which involves a large fortune, will be decided in my favor. Should that come about, as I say, I shall send Venus with a message to you under her wing.”

Marie fluttered, herself, like some frightened dove. She hung her head, understanding, but mute.

“When I do, Miss Powers,” proceeded Aldis in an intense tone, “will you send Juno back with a reply?”

“Yes!” whispered Marie, and he was gone with a tender pressure of her hand, carrying away her heart with him and leaving his own behind.

One month, two months—no word, no glad visit for Juno from her absent mate. That evening, however, as every evening, Marie sat by the open window, thinking, hoping that the flutter of welcome wings might break the long vigil.

Marie had closed the window as the rain began to fall. Suddenly there seemed to be a louder sound than the splatter of the drops. It was like a tap-tap-tap! Then some heavy object beat against the pane. Marie went to the window, opened it. With rain-spotted wings, draggled and storm-beaten, the carrier dove, Venus, flapped into the room.

One hour later Marie was speeding down the road leading southwards, mounted on a bicycle. She had found under the wing of the carrier dove a card in the writing of Aldis Blake. “I am a prisoner at the Cascade mill,” it read, “near Riverton, Help.”

Marie had heard Aldis speak of desperate enemies more than once. Her cousin and herself had been regular bicyclists in the past. Her suit was in the garret, her machine in the stable loft. Her dauntless mind was soon made up, and now Marie was dashing down the country highway.

It must have been 11 o'clock when she saw the cross-roads light a mile away, and the city glow beyond. Then, nearer, towards the riverside, a spark or radiance recalled something.

“The Cascade mill,” exclaimed Marie, in a sudden flash of memory. “Why, that lonely building where the light is must be it. Cousin and I made this run more than once, and— I remember now!”

Marie approached the old rookery. A light guided her. She traced it to a room on the lower floor. She saw a ruffianly faced man trying a locked door. Then he took up a bottle from a table, put on his hat and started apparently for the tavern at the cross roads.

Marie was in the lighted room as soon as the man was out of sight. She noticed the padlocked door beyond, found a heavy iron bar, burst in the door, and extending the lantern saw—her lover, handcuffed, lying on a heap of straw.

“You,” shouted Aldis in amazement. “Yes,” stuttered Marie—“your message—the dove.”

“What! Venus flew to you instead of home, as I expected?” exclaimed Aldis. “Ah, I see—for her mate.”

Just as Marie had sought hers! She led him from the place and to the nearest farmhouse. The telephone was called into requisition, some officers arrived in an automobile from the city. Then Marie returned home, and—waited.

It was fortunate that Aldis Blake had his pet dove with him when captured. A scheming lawyer had plotted for his absence when the lawsuit came up. He was fooled. Aldis gained the suit and a fortune. He had won something more precious, however, he told Marie that same day when he asked her to become his wife.

JUDGE J. P. PURDUM, The People's Candidate for Mayor

Judge James P. Purdum, candidate for the Republican nomination for Mayor, has not been put forward by either of the two so-called “organizations” that have grown up within the Party and are contending for control of the Party machinery and possession of the Public patronage.

While each and all of the three candidates for Mayor are excellent and public-spirited gentlemen, and good Republicans, and there would be no personal mistake whichever may win, yet there is a growing feeling of independence in the ranks and a restive desire to avoid or throw off any ring lasso that tends to hobble the Party and good city government.

Judge Purdum is an independent candidate, never having been affiliated with either or any faction, and is not the special chosen candidate of any persons or combine seeking Party control.

He has never been the agent, attorney or servant of any public utility corporation with which the city may come to deal and whose interests may some time come into conflict with that of the general public.

If nominated, he will be the candidate of the WHOLE Party, and ALL good Republicans, without regard to with whom or what they may have previously affiliated will be welcomed to the Party councils.

And if elected, he will be under no promises of policy or patronage to any political person, combine or faction and under no obligation, influence or domination, direct or indirect, of any political combine, but will be Mayor for the whole people and their interest only.

He was born and reared in this City and has always been usefully identified with municipal affairs. As a member of the Board of Education he advised, lead, oversaw the economical and well-planned system of school buildings, our sole monuments of civic pride.

He is a constructive lawyer, served two terms as City Solicitor and assisted in organizing the local system of elections.

While never having been an active politician or connected with any political faction or seeking remunerative office, he has almost continually been in the public service as member of the Board of Education, Board of Health and various enterprises of civic improvement.

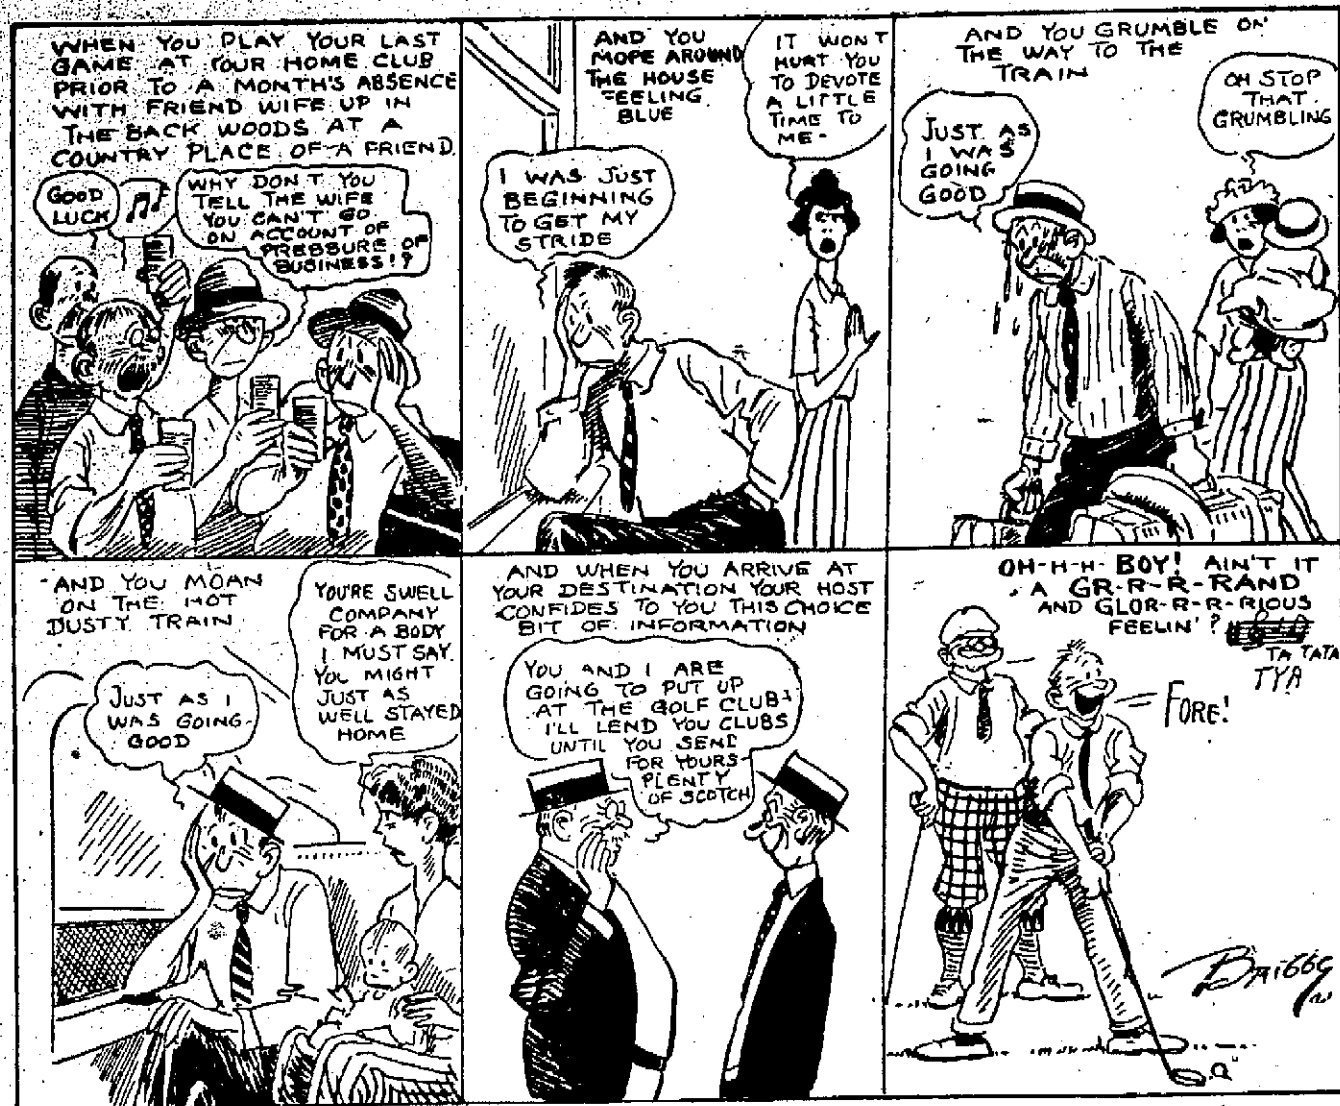

If elected Mayor he will see to it that the public finances are systematized and safeguarded and a rule of strict economy enforced in every department.

He will advocate an intelligent, practical and permanent sanitary system of garbage removal and street and alley cleaning will be adopted and enforced, and the co-operation of all private citizens will be invited and encouraged to meet the “white wings” half way; that the City Police will be carefully disciplined and instructed in the performance of their duties as well as the limitations of their authority; that a correct and clear system of accounting and inspection of the accounts of the Water Works, City Hospital and Cemetery, etc., will be inaugurated, so that they be made self-sustaining without waste or neglect of service; Sciotoville will be extended her full share of Water, Police and Fire Service and her Streets improved to the same degree as the streets in the old city; that the Public Wharf be improved and kept in such good condition as to encourage the River, and the from-over-the-river traffic; that steps will be taken moving toward some plan of a future City Hall to house the various departments of City Government and for a center and monument of civic pride.

Democrats Waiting

tion. The Democrats admit that the Republicans can reduce taxes if they want to but only by adopting the scheme of Representative Funder, Chairman of the Ways and Means committee, who is credited with the idea of cutting taxes radically and leaving the government with a deficit to be made up after the congressional elections have been held next year. This is in line with the theory that the tax burden should be distributed over a period of years so that future generations may bear a large part of the cost of the war. This policy, however, is opposed by Republican economists in the executive branch of the government who think the government's borrowing power would be adversely affected by such a plan.

Some Strange Political Lines
The country will see some strange political lineups before the end of the present session of Congress. Many western Republicans do not like the idea of repealing the excess profits taxes. Several Democrats will find it necessary to vote for the Republican tax and tariff bills while a goodly number of Republicans whose constituents will have been hard hit by the tariff or tax measures will vote against their party.

Will Fight Tax and Tariff Issues

But broadly speaking, the Democratic party will range itself against the Fordney tariff and the new revenue law and base its whole attack on them in the next congressional elections. It is too early to know what the Democrats will do about the peace treaty situation. They are waiting to see what formula is brought forth by the Harding administration. The other day, however, Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, Democrat, fired the opening gun by inquiring vainly from the Republicans as to whether America was at peace with Germany. The Democrats for the most part are silent, however, while Secretary Hughes conducts his secret negotiations with Germany and the allies. The Democrats will unquestionably decline to accept the Hughes formula when submitted on much the same grounds as were adopted by the Republicans against Wilson. The Democrats are already beginning to say that the treaty with Germany is not being arrived at very openly and that when the treaty is finally submitted they will not swallow it without the crossing of a "p" or the dotting of an "i". Instead they will endeavor to attach the Versailles pact with the league of nations covenant and when that is voted down they will offer the Versailles treaty with the Lodge reservations and call for a vote in an effort to place the Republicans on record as having reversed themselves on foreign policy. The Democrats control more than one third of the Senate and can block ratification of any treaty. They are saying that the Senate isn't being consulted in advance of the agreements being made with foreign powers and that as a consequence amendment and reservations will be in order when the treaty is finally submitted for ratification. The Democrats are quiet now but they are planning to play a more aggressive part as an opposition party just as soon as the Republicans have passed tax or tariff legislation. Policies which have been adjourned for several months will soon be recovered.

Toledo Gasoline Price Cut

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 6.—The Standard Oil Co. today announced a one-cent reduction in the price of gasoline, effective tomorrow. The new price will be 21 cents a gallon at service stations. There is no change in refined oil.

Skull Fractured in Boxing Bout
COLUMBUS, O., August 6.—The condition of Earl Welch, 20, of this city, whose skull was fractured Thursday night during a friendly boxing bout with another Columbus amateur, took a turn for the better last night, and he is reported this morning as having a chance for recovery.

Sheriff Holds Auto Bandits

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 6.—Four men, Barney Eichorn, 29, Fred Harris, 28, Frank Wass, 20 and Shirley Simmons, 27, all of Toledo, believed by police to be the auto bandits who have been operating on highways in the vicinity of Toledo during the last two months, were arrested by Sheriff Taylor and Deputy Sheriff Colby at midnight last night and are being held in the county jail on a charge of suspicion. Four loaded guns, a box of extra cartridges and two flashlights were found in the car occupied by the men. More than a score of robberies on highways near Toledo, have been reported during the past four weeks and a description of the car used in most of the robberies tallies with the car occupied by the men arrested by Taylor and Colby.

Jailed For Not Dividing The Proceeds

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 6.—As Charles Rapp, Cleveland post-office employee, stepped from juvenile court here this morning, where he faced a charge of non-support of his minor child, he was arrested by Constable E. W. Moody on the charge of embezzling $2,750. The charge was preferred by Judge Rapp, his wife, who claims that Rapp sold property in which she had a half interest and neglected to give her any money. Rapp when arraigned before Magistrate Campbell pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for next Monday at 2 o'clock. His bond was placed at $3,000. In default of bond he was remanded to jail.

Probe Further Into The Mail Robberies

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—With a number of those indicted in connection with the alleged mail theft ring having promised to become witnesses, authorities investigating the affairs of John W. Worthington, alleged head of the mail theft combination, today planned to delve further into his affairs. Of more than a score indicted with Worthington about half have been arrested. A special effort is being made, authorities said, to connect Worthington and those said to be associated with him, with the $350,000 Dearborn street station mail robbery here, for which "Big Tim" Murphy and others have been indicted. Aid in this direction has been given, officers said, by admissions obtained from Arthur M. Goldsmith, of New York, alleged eastern representative of the band.

Why Old Myths Survive.
The destroyers of fine dramatic myths tell us nowadays that the Caliph Omar did not burn the ancient library of Alexandria, and therefore did not have a chance to say that all the books in it that agreed with the Koran were superfluous, and all that disagreed with the Koran were pernicious. Doubtless the perennial freshness and vitality of the tale are due to an everlasting normal human hatred of weed-grown, literary graveyards.

Mixture of Family Names.
This is a good example of what is a common phenomena in the polyglot Balkans: A man named Pavel—that is, Paul—had five sons; one settled in Athens, called himself Paropoulis, the Greek form of Paulson; the second went to Belgrade and called himself Pavlovich; the third in Sofia called himself Pavlov; the fourth made his home in Bucharest under the name Pavloscu, while the youngest set up in business in Constantinople, assuming the Turkish form of Pavloglu.

The true. It is warming up again. The maximum temperature today was 90 and warmer weather is predicted.

Plan Fight On Wage Cuts In Canada

TORONTO, ONT., August 6.—The four big railroad brotherhoods in Canada announced today they would jointly contest the 12 percent wage cut which has been put into effect on the Canadian railroads. They have applied to the government for a board of conciliation.

Representatives of the Order of Railway Conductors, the Order of Railway Telegraphers, the Brotherhood of Engineers and Firemen and the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen reached their decision after a ten day conference in Montreal. They also considered taking a referendum vote of the membership on the wage reductions.

The decision of the unions to take joint action is said to be unprecedented.

New York Musicians To Strike

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Managers of many vaudeville and moving picture houses felt first effects of the coming strike of musicians today, although the strike was not scheduled to go into effect until midnight. In these theaters, musicians failed to appear for the customary Saturday rehearsals at which music for the next week's program is gone over.

The strike, which was declared would affect 100 theaters, was ordered last night by the Musical Mutual Protective Union. About 1,000 musicians are employed in the houses affected. The union maintains it is striking to forestall a lock-out planned by the managers for next Tuesday. The dispute is over a proposed wage reduction.

Managers of some of the theaters were reported today to be importing vaudeville musicians from other cities to supplant the strikers. The local union is an independent, having been broken with the American Federation of Musicians.

Name Saved Him.

A man brought before the court in Biddeford, Me., on a charge of vagrancy, when asked by the judge to give his name, answered, "David G. home." The judge contracted his brows. "Your last name again?" he asked. "Gohome," was the reply. "All right, go ahead," said the judge. "That's a new one on me."

The Rialto.

The architect of the famous Rialto bridge in Venice was Antonio da Ponte. The bridge is a single arch, 90 feet in length, and is exceedingly strong and graceful. It is crossed by means of ascending and descending steps, while on the top are two ranges of shops, dividing the structure into three parallel streets.

Interesting to Astronomers.

No way has been yet found in which the sun's corona with its unknown gases may be properly studied except during a total eclipse. The wonderful halo that the sun wears is one of the most interesting objects in the heavens to astronomers, and it is important to know all that can be known about these strange lights that shoot out millions of miles beyond the sun.

HAYS SPEEDS UP OCEAN MAIL BY NEW PLAN

Under the eyes of Postmaster General Will H. Hays, Postmaster E. M. Morgan of New York and other high officials, a new method of transferring ocean mails at New York was inaugurated recently. The new plan expedites foreign and coastwise mails by twenty-four or even thirty-six hours. In the past such mails have been held up until the vessels had unloaded their passengers, frequently a delay of a day or more. Under the new plan the New York Central railroad will operate three special mail boats, to which mails will be delivered as soon as the vessels arrive at Quarantine. The small boats will rush the mail matter to the New York postoffice and to outgoing trains. The photos were taken at the first trial of the plan.

Galvanized Oil Tank Is Converted Into Giant Still; Now At Sheriff's Office

A crude still and nine barrels, three of which were filled with corn mash, were "captured" in a raid participated in by Squire William McManes, his constable, John Wolfe and deputy, Jesse James, at Jennison Run, three miles west of South Webster, Friday night. Wesley Collins, 19 years old, was also taken into custody in connection with operating the still, and he was released on $1,000 bond for his appearance for trial on August 15. The captured still which had been converted from a galvanized oil tank, was brought to the city and turned over to the sheriff.

Willis Is Dismissed; Wife Pays Costs

George Willis and his wife, Julia Willis, 113 Jefferson street, appeared in Municipal court Saturday morning to meet charges of disorderly conduct. The hearing disclosed that the couple staged a row at their home Friday night because the wife accused her hubby of being too chummy with his cousin, a woman named Willis, and when the evidence tended to show that the wife was the aggressor and attempted to fight her husband, Judge Sprague dismissed him and taxed her the costs.

Selby Bowlers Enjoy Real Outing

One hundred members of the Selby Bowling League forgot all worries Saturday afternoon when they lured themselves to the Selby cottage on Rosemont Road, where they enjoyed an outing to be topped off with a chicken dinner at 5:30. There will be a ball game, horse-shoe pitching, volleyball and other outdoor games. The outing is in charge of President Earl Reinhard and Secretary Marion Proehl.

SCOTOVILLE AND WHEELERSBURG

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church met Thursday with an all day midday. At the noon hour an appetizing dinner was served to a good attendance of members and friends. The quilt was not completed and all members and friends interested are requested to meet at the church Monday afternoon to finish the quilt.

In honor of Mrs. Murray Harper (Avenue White) a bride of recent date, Miss Nell Rose delightfully entertained at her home Thursday evening with a picnic supper and kitchen shower. The evening was spent in music, and games. Those who enjoyed the evening were: Margaret Holbrook, Gladys Bonfield, Edith Chambers, Anna Edwards, Adeline Edgish, Ruth Hestings, Helen Levers, Lolo Cochran, and Bertha Rose.

Miss Gertrude Monger has returned from a visit with relatives in Cedar Point and Springfield. Mrs. Carl Rozzo who was recently operated upon in Hempstead hospital is getting along nicely. Wm. ## A Young Man and his Future

"The first thousand dollars often decides a young man's career between success and mediocrity."

JAMES J. HILL, who carved an empire out of the great barren northwest, once said: "If you want to know whether you are destined to be a success or a failure in life, you can easily find out. The test is simple and it is infallible. ARE YOU ABLE TO SAVE MONEY? If not, the seed of success is not in you."

The purpose of this advertisement is to offer young men the cooperation of this institution for saving their first thousand dollars—the first thousand that often means the difference between success and failure.

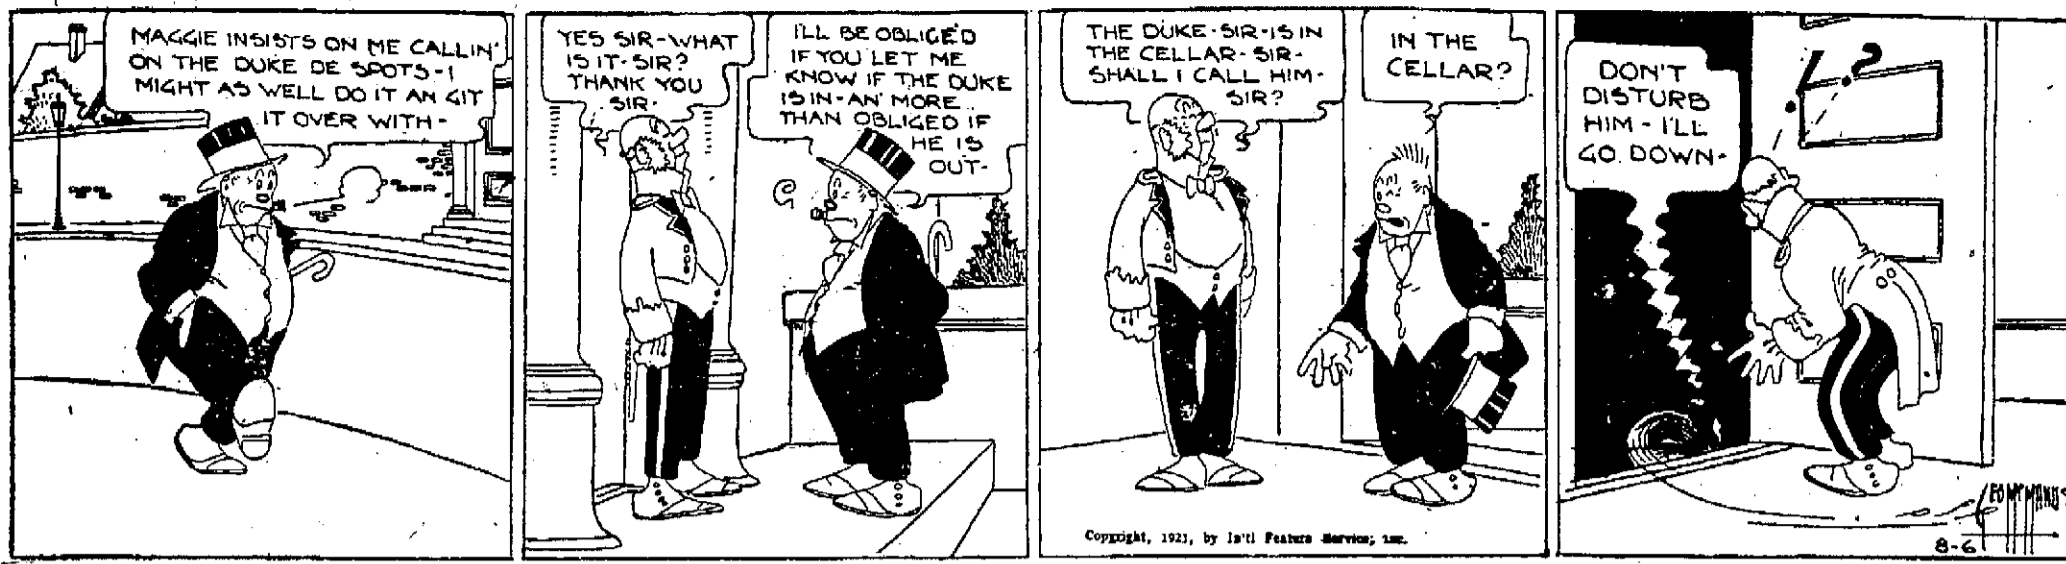

You can do it. It may take time and patience, but you can do it. If you are interested in this important subject, call and talk it over with us. We will outline a plan for saving, based on the amount you earn, to insure a definite sum of money to accumulate within a stated period of time. There is nothing mysterious or uncertain about our plan. We merely help you to determine the amount you can afford to save, and then arrange a schedule of payments to be deposited in an Interest Paying Account. All we ask is your earnest determination. Time and compound interest will do the rest. Think—and act TODAY.

EVER SEE AUTO POLO GAME? WELL GO TO LUCASVILLE FAIR AND SEE A REAL GAME

The world's greatest drivers of motor cars and the most skillful wielders of the mallet will contest in the auto polo games which are to be played at Lucasville Fair next week. There are two players on an auto polo team—one who drives the car and the other who drives the ball. A light motor car is used, and it is stripped of every possible part that can be spared, not only to decrease the load on the engine, but also to make the car more maneuverable. The players are not unlike those of football. The game is, in fact, so simple that it is readily understood by the spectators, who from the beginning enter into the spirit of the contest because of the noise, confusion and thrilling drives which continuously prevail.

Body Of "Pat" McCall Arrives

The body of Corporal William McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. James U. McCall, 1223 Kinney's Lane, arrived here Friday evening, and was taken to Duell's morgue on Second street.

He died in a French base hospital on September 17, 1918, as a result of wounds received in the St. Mihiel offensive, on September 15, of the same year.

William McCall enlisted at Portsmouth and had his preliminary military training at Camp Sherman. On April 6th, 1918 he sailed for overseas as a corporal in Company C of the 15th Machine Gun Corps.

He was born at Russell, Ky., on February 7, 1888. In addition to his parents, James U. and Anna McCall, he has survived by the following sisters and brothers, Mrs. William H. Delaney of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. C. I. Smith of this city, George and Frank of this city and Marie at home.

Prior to his enlistment, he was assistant chief clerk at the Whitaker-Glossner company. He was a faithful member of the congregation of the Trinity church.

The American Legion will have a military funeral for Corporal McCall. The body will not be removed from the morgue until the day of the funeral, which will probably be Monday.

Bullet Crashes Through Window

IRONTON, O., August 6.—A mysterious revolver shot, which is being investigated by the police, was fired yesterday evening near Fourth and Edison avenues, the bullet entering the home of Charles Smith, brother of Street Superintendent P. M. Smith. The bullet entered the parlor window, hitting off a ring on the window blind, passed within a few inches of the heads of Mr. Smith's two daughters, Lena and Florence, and made a hole in a mirror over the mantel. The young ladies and Miss Georgiana Flower, of Lawrence Furnace, were in the room at the time, other members of the family being upstairs.

New Equipment Is Issued; Battery B Leaves August 14

Final preparations for the departure of Battery B and the combat train for Camp Knox, August 14th are rapidly being made, most of the inoculations having been completed last night and a new issue of equipment is being distributed. On Saturday, August 13th, the men will have their final drill before leaving for camp.

All but ten or fifteen men have received their full quota of shots after the inoculation last night. Each man now has had assigned him the majority of the equipment needed, although shortages have held up some parts of the issue. Hats, shirts, slippers, knapsacks and carriers, canteens complete with covers and tins, mess kits, shelter halves and poles and pins, and knives and spoons have been issued so far. The shipments in leggings and breeches were too short to supply the outfit and no forks were received.

In addition to the equipment which is issued by the government, each man will provide his own toilet articles. These include soap and soap box, razor, toothbrush, comb, hair brush, two towels, two pairs of socks and two suits of underwear. Captain Thompson of Battery B has also issued orders for each man to provide himself with one table fork until the issue of forks can be received. The two organizations will be drilled Monday and Friday of next week, the regular drill nights, and also Saturday, August 13th. The officers will spend the entire day Saturday at the armory making final preparations, and all men will report at the armory at midnight that night, when they will enter federal pay for the two weeks to be spent at camp.

Captain Luther Thompson said yesterday that efforts had been made to have all troops leave their home stations on Sunday and return on the second Sunday following so that the full fourteen days would be spent in camp. The men will receive pay for fifteen days, being on the payroll while traveling to and from the camp.

NEW STEAMER IN LOCAL TRADE

"Betsey Ann" is the name of a steamer which will be put in the Pittsburgh-Cincinnati trade at an early date by The Liberty Packet Company. It was stated Saturday. The boat, which has been operating on the lower Mississippi, out of Vicksburg, for the past three years, was recently bought by the new owners and is now enroute to Pittsburgh and is scheduled to leave the Smoky City on her maiden trip on August 12.

The packet, which is 165 feet in length, and 39 foot beam and the hull is of steel, will be quite a valuable addition to The Liberty Line Steamers plying in this trade.

School Board Plans For Big Bond Issue

At the meeting of the board of education Friday evening it was decided to issue $400,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of enlarging Portsmouth high school, and the Lincoln school building.

Resolutions to buy property adjacent to the high school grounds at Waller and Gallia streets, were also passed. The board decided to purchase the south 44 feet of the property of Mary E. Scott and Addie Cranston, both of Eighth street, at a cost of $2450 and $3300 respectively. It was also decided to buy the Ellen Drew property facing on Waller street, in back of the high school, at a cost of $12,000.

Miss Georgia E. Grotz, of Winchester, Ky., was appointed as a teacher in the Eleventh street school for the coming school year. Members Clark, Jackson, Seader and Roth were present.

OAK HILL

Miss Mildred Claar of Jackson has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Metzler of Cozy Glen.

Mrs. Robert Miller was an out-of-town visitor this week.

Society: Friends. Mrs. Goslip—How does it come that Mrs. Newrich invited you to her party? I thought you were enemies. Mrs. Sharp—We are, but she thought I had nothing to wear and wanted to make me feel bad.

Belfont Plant To Resume

The Ironfoundry this morning said: "It will be welcome news to many of our readers that the plant of the Belfont Iron Works company, with the exception of the galvanizing and barbed wire fence departments will resume operations in full on Monday morning. The galvanizing and barbed wire fence departments will go on Tuesday morning."

Has God Failed?

Has God withdrawn Himself from the affairs of the world? Is Christianity a failure? Has the church lost its power with God and its influence with men? Are these constantly recurring questions legitimate? Are they in harmony with God's Word? Should Christians harbor such interrogations in their thinking?

The discussion, at the United Brethren church Sunday night will be built around the answers to the above questions. It will be timely and practical and the public generally is invited to attend. The services begin at seven-thirty new time and the church is located at the corner of Seventh and Gay streets. Special music will feature this service.

Things Seen In Portsmouth

Friends of old bachelor all agree over rumor of his marriage. One of them, in his eagerness to verify or disprove rumor, faked a phone call from the "Times" asking for details of wedding. But even his statement that they were talking to the wrong (name withheld) hasn't fully convinced them. Women laughing around mayor's office debating whether she would put the law to her "old man." Six men, in driving rain, shoving a big touring car in a vain endeavor to make the engine "go." Two Third street women scrapping over the back fence while a nearby phonograph boomed "A Good Man is Hard to Find." Two girls giving an exhibition of acrobatic dancing on Front street to "I've Got a Bimbo Down on Dumbo Isle." Cutie refusing to walk down street with sweetie unless she rolled up her stockings.

CANTALOUPE VICTIMS ARE BETTER

Mrs. C. Wells Crawford, and twin sons, Edwin and William, 2006 Baird avenue, have almost completely recovered from an attack of ptomaine poisoning, which they suffered Wednesday evening, after eating cantaloupe that had not yet ripened. For a time the three victims were in a serious condition.

D. of A's Plan For Picnic

Monday, August 15, is the date selected for the picnic to be given by members of White Lily Council, Daughters of America. The committee in charge will make their final report at the meeting of the order next Friday evening. At the meeting Friday evening in the Odd Fellows Hall, three applications were received. The applicants will probably be initiated with the class to receive degrees, August 19. The class now numbers fourteen.

Owing to a sharp rise in the Ohio river work on the new bridge to span the Ohio at Ironton has been halted temporarily.

To Get Circus

John Robinson's circus will pitch its tents in Ironton on August 27. The show has been filling many engagements in Ohio.

Tonsils Removed

John Scherer of 1411 Park avenue submitted to an operation for the removal of his tonsils Friday.

Theodore Doty, candidate for nomination for Mayor on the Republican ticket, has been a resident of Portsmouth for more than thirty-five years. He has been successful in business life and always active in civic and public affairs. He has served the city faithfully, both as a member of Council and on the School Board, and in many other municipal activities has become familiar with public affairs and the city's needs.

While he has been a Republican of the stalwart type, he is not allied to any interest or faction, and if nominated and elected he will be the Mayor for all of the people.

He stands for the most rigid economy in the city's expenditures and for the efficient management of its affairs.

He will urge that the whole city, including the new annexed territory, such as Sciotoville, be given equal treatment and share in municipal lights, water, police and fire protection.

Mr. Doty recognizes the fine influence that women have in the ballot, and will see that they are given a voice and place in the city's administration. He will invite their aid in making Portsmouth a cleaner city, to extend and develop its parks, provide a comprehensive system of sanitary sewerage, encourage markets and otherwise make the city a better place in which to live.

Mr. Doty is progressive and has confidence in the growth and future of Portsmouth and recognizes that the city is destined to be a great commercial and manufacturing center, and he will do all that he can to shape its public affairs to meet and encourage this growth and future.

Almost Every Other Public Entertainment of Any Kind Is Run For Profit-Commercialized-But Your County Fair

Your fair is a county institution recognized and supervised by the state of Ohio. Its books are audited by state officials each year, just the same as are the county treasurer's and auditor's books. No board of directors could declare dividends if profits were made. It would be unlawful to do so.

Thus both the exhibitor and patrons are protected by laws made years ago by men who recognized county fairs as useful and helpful to the community.

Thus the money you pay in at the gates practically all finds its way back into the pockets of your neighbor or goes into improvements on the grounds which makes your county richer—your fair better—and the community a more desirable place to live.

The directors have definite plans for a grounds, and a fair that will not be surpassed by any county anywhere.

If you want it too, if you have a pride in your county don't let any little thing keep you away this year. The support and co-operation of every citizen, of every organization that believes in building a better, more prosperous county is needed.

HELL GET HIS WISH

BY C. A. VOIGHT

DEEP CONVICTION AT TENT MEETINGS

"The wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord," was the text used by Rev. Cochran last evening at the Third Street tent meetings. Mr. Cochran ably handled this great text and was so backed by the spirit of God that at the conclusion practically the whole audience seemed to be under conviction.

Mr. Cochran showed that the inevitable consequences of sin is death. And that the scripture speaks of not only the death of the body for the sinner, but of a second death, as meaning no longer a chance to get right with God. A two-fold death, the one of the body and the everlasting and never-ending death of both soul and body in the "lake of fire and brimstone." Mr. Cochran said that the Bible tried to explain away an everlasting hell of fire and brimstone for the sinner. But it was still in the Bible and that the wages of sin surely led to hell unless delivered by repentance and by the blood of Jesus here in this life. He further showed how the gift of God was the Saviour's blood and that God is not willing that any one should go to hell but that all who do go to hell go despite the mighty protest of God, despite the strivings of the Holy Ghost and over the body of Jesus Christ trampling His profers of salvation under their feet. That salvation gives eternal life and God has done His best in Jesus to keep out of hell every one who is there.

Sunday will be a big day at the tent. A fore feast will begin at 10:00 a. m. Preaching at 11:00 a. m. 3:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. The evening meeting will begin with a song service at 7:30. All who are anxious to be present and have a seat should come early.

Many Enjoy Motor Trips

Along the way by motor, is the plan of the modern vacationer. It seems as though this summer has seen a tremendous popularity of automobile trips, in preference to lake trips and long distance traveled on pullmans as in the past.

Every day the headquarters of the Portsmouth Automobile club are besieged with motor parties from almost any point in the United States. They belong to various automobile clubs about the country, and stop in every city of any size to secure information regarding routes, from the Automobile club situated there. Their membership assures them of this privilege.

Fords traveling from Seattle to Washington, D. C. and Packards going from Detroit to Key West, Fla., are comrades along the road, and from the popularity of the motoring plan, the passengers in each car seem to be enjoying the trips.

Fifteen dollars. Wise people have bought two pairs at this price.

16 Teams Enter Horseshoe Tournament

Sixteen teams, making 64 contestants, started off on the four-man horseshoe tournament at the old Children's Home grounds last night, the opening play showing some excellent pitching and some well coordinated teams.

Each team in the new tournament plays five games a night, two members tossing on one court and two on another. In this way each team is scored twice, and is some occasions a team will split with its opponents, each turning in one win and one defeat. Averages will be kept throughout the tournament and the winner will be decided in that way instead of by elimination, giving each contestant a chance to toss against every other entry.

Among the teams entered are names grown familiar through the two tournaments which have preceded. Kitchin and Gerald, winners of the doubles tourney, have added Cline and Howland, two men who showed great strength at the barnyard pastime in the singles tournament, the new team going under the name of Hilltop Eagles, which was the title under which Kitchin and Gerald won the first tournament. Blerley, Cross, Millson and Thomas make up the Cleaners, who fall to clean last night, and McClure, Strader, Hessel and Thorngate compose the Steel Plant outfit. Two teams are entered from the Terminals and Doll, W. Klein, Cook and Rerave, the Iron Men, showed their strength last night by winning nine out of ten games pitched.

Practically all sections of the city are represented in names as well as in persons. From the west end come the Vulcan, Jests and the Sciotos. The York Park Specials take care of the Chillicothe street district. The Campbell Avenue Selects are present as are also the Spring street Specials the Hilltop Athletic Club, the Hilltop Eagles, the two Terminals teams and the Steel Plant aggregation.

Cross of the Cleaners carried off high honors in individual pitching for the first night although his team was defeated. He scored 7 points in the five games with 27 ringers, an average of 5.4 ringers to the game.

In team pitching, the Campbell Avenue Selects had the best record for the evening, winning all ten of the games entered. Their closest game was 21-16. The Hilltop Athletics and the York Park Specials had the closest series, each winning five games. Three out of five going to each team.

The Cleaners and the Hilltop Eagles battled on the first and second courts. Kitchin and Gerald winning three out of five from Blerley and Cross on Court 1, 21-15, 20-21, 21-16, 21-7, while Howland and Appel took as many from Thomas and Millson, 12-21, 21-9, 21-5, 21-8, 13-21.

On Court 3 the Terminals' second, Clark and Booker, won four out of five from the Steel Plant, McClure and Strader, 19-21, 21-14, 21-15, 21-9.

21-0, and on Court 4 their partners Albrecht and Storn took four from Hessel and Thorngate, 21-8, 21-6, 21-8, 21-13, 6-21.

The Iron Men won from the Terminals Firsts on Courts 5 and 6, Doll and Klein taking five straight from Fetter and Duplain, 21-17, 21-13, 21-7, 21-12, and Cook and Rerave taking four of their five from Mooney and White by 21-14, 21-2, 16-21, 21-15, 21-14.

The Hilltop Athletics, A. Reinhardt and O. Dempsey, took three out of five on court 7 from H. Blerley and Hughes of the York Park Specials 15-21, 20-21, 21-15, 21-6, 21-20, but the Specials held up their own half on Court 8, Dougherty and Chaffin winning from Brady and Adams 21-15, 21-12, 21-21, 18-21, 21-16.

The Campbell Avenue Selects took all ten from the Pioneer Firsts, Davis and J. Sparks winning from Harrison and Price, 21-8, 21-9, 21-10, 21-8, 21-4 on Court 10, while W. Tilton and W.

Sparks won from Crabtree and Reinfrank 21-14, 21-12, 21-6, 21-12, 21-4. The Pioneer Second came out better, Riggs and E. Reinfrank on Court 11 winning three from W. and P. Kitchin of the Sciotos, 16-21, 21-15, 21-18, 21-15, 15-21, and Book and Flowers taking three from Perkins and Saxon, 21-6, 21-15, 18-21, 21-13.

Court 13 proved unlucky for the Quality Specials, Lemona and Lechner losing five straight to Mitchell and C. Davis of the Spring street specials, 21-14, 21-12, 21-10, 21-13, while on the next court Turner and Prince of the Spring street Specials won four of the five from Cox and Crumston, 21-13, 18-21, 21-1, 21-17, 21-13.

Montell and Belcher of the Vulcan Last defeated Saunders and Carlton of the Sciotos on Court 15, 21-7, 21-10, 21-6, 21-6, 21-15, 21-12, their partners, Davis and Beckman taking three from Crabtree and Tudor, 20-21, 21-21, 21-19, 21-14, 21-18.

Excelsiors Beat Every Team

An investigation of the records in the Industrial League Saturday disclosed the remarkable fact that the Excelsior club, who lead the race most of the way, only to be put practically out of the running by crushing defeats in the past few days, won exactly three games from the other five teams, bringing their total win up to the 15 mark, while they lost a pair of combats to each of their opponents or 10 defeats, for a percentage of even .600.

Very Little Sickness In City

A prominent local physician stated Saturday that there was less sickness here than there has been in the past ten years.

"Many physicians are on a vacation as a result" the physician said.

Paints House; Is Heat Victim

Hiram Sturgeon, of Fourteenth street was overcome by heat while doing some painting in his home Saturday. He was unconscious for several hours, but later rallied and is out of danger.

WHAT BIBLE STUDENTS BELIEVE

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 N. D. Edwards will lecture in the Temple Theater on the subject: "What Bible Students Believe And Why." This lecture will be delivered in response to many requests that certain doctrinal matters be publicly discussed and that Bible students reasons for some portions of their beliefs be presented with Scriptural evidences as to why such teachings are held. Mr. Edwards' services have been very much in demand in surrounding cities as he is a very interesting speaker and a thorough Bible student. As usual the lecture will be free with no collections.

MASONS LINEUP BOWLING TEAMS

Directors of the Masonic Bowling League at a meeting Friday night selected the personnel of the teams for the new season. The lineups of the various teams will be published in the Sunday Sun-Times.

"Keep On Moving" Notice

The police Saturday served a notice on William Anderson that within the next three days he would be compelled to move his shantytown from the foot of Officers street. Other shantytowners will get the "Keep On Moving" notice.

Yeager On Vacation; Moore To Substitute

During the absence of His Ump, Buck Yeager, who left Saturday afternoon on a motor trip to Chattanooga, "Feggy" Moore, former star pitcher for the Champion Shoemakers in the Ohio State League days, will render the base decisions in the closing games of the Industrial League race next week, while Jack Bartlege will don the mask and protector and officiate behind the bat. That the fur will fly as never before goes without the saying as upon the result these combats hinges the question as in which camp the N. & W. or the Steelmen, the pennant will float. These two fighting aggregations still have three arguments to settle between them and two of these will likely be decided on Tuesday and Friday evenings, while the Steel representatives, who have a total of six games on their schedule in order to finish out their string, will probably be hooked to hook up in a third game during the week. This game will likely be with the Arch Preservers.

HOW SPEAKER MADE WINNING HURLER OF SOTHORON

Allan Sothoron, who a few years back loomed as one of the game's greatest hurlers, gradually blossomed until the St. Louis Browns asked for waivers on him a couple of months ago.

Allan Sothoron pitching, and drawings illustrating his fault and how it was corrected.

Sothoron's arm apparently was o. k., but he could not field his position. Teams actually bunted him off the mound. Manager Speaker of the Indians believed he could remedy this fault and took a chance on Sothoron. The Indian boss decided that Sothoron's weakness lay in throwing to bases after fielding a ball. His wildness came from throwing flat-footed instead of taking a step as he does when hurling. Sothoron is now a winning hurler for the tribe.

Union Services Change To First Presbyterian

The Union services which the two congregations of Bigelow M. E. and First Presbyterian churches have been enjoying for the past month at Bigelow, will change tomorrow morning to First Church, the pastor, Rev. D. C. Boyd, returned from vacation, preaching. His sermon subject will be "The Infinite Nearness of God." The evening service, weather permitting, will be held on Bigelow's spacious lawn, as usual. A song service will be one of the enjoyable features of this evening hour of worship. The subject of the Vesper sermon will be "The Latest Revelation." A large attendance of the members of both churches is anticipated at each of these services tomorrow, and a cordial invitation is extended to all who may care to worship with them.

Oh Boy, There'll Be Big Doings In Otway

It is predicted there will be some lively doings down at Otway Sunday afternoon when the Rarden Champs and the Otway Black Sox are scheduled to clash in the third and decisive battle of a three game series to decide the championship of the western part of the county.

The count is now even, the Champs having easily annexed the first round, but the Black Sox turned the tables in the second conflict and gained the decision 2 to 1 although it required 10 innings to turn the trick. The players of both teams are all primed and set for the final struggle which bids fair to rival for excitement any exhibition of the great pastime ever staged down in that section. The teams appear to be about evenly matched and both camps are brimming over with confidence of gaining the decision tomorrow so as to be crowned "champions."

The clubs will have the same lineups as in the other games with South, the Champ's crack right-hander opposing Rending, the Black Sox star finger, on the hill.

July gas bills now due. Usual discount up to and inclusive of August 10th. Consumers mailing remittance must see that same is placed in mail box before last mail collection on 10th to obtain discount.

Solvay Team Beats Selbyites, 5-2

TEAM STANDING

Solvay	12	11	.523
Central Labor	8	15	.348
Selby	6	16	.273

Coming from behind like so many thoroughbred bang tails in a steeple chase, the Champlain Solvays pulled a rally in the seventh inning at the 17th street yards, last evening, that swept the lead of the Selby Arch Troopers in the discard and gave them a 5 to 2 victory, after it looked as though they were going to be a balsomated from head to toe. When the Champlain came in for their last turn of the evening, the Solvays were leading by a score of 2 to 0, and Mr. Burke, a new find that Manager Ted Weber had dug up in the brush, was pitching a square for round of ball. The square showed a clean chop and held the Champlain to three scattered hits and was never in danger. In fact, but one man had gotten as far as third base, and it was odds that the Arch Troopers would be sure enough winners. But Mr. Burke seemed to lose his skill, his poise and his effectiveness in the last frame and four straight hits sent him to the hall and under George Adams was hastily summoned to the rescue, but before he could get out of the dugout, the Champlain clinched the game, Adams yielding two hits and a long sacrifice before he got warmed up to the task. It was one of the greatest rallies ever seen in the Industrial League, for every run made in the seventh was as clearly earned as a score's salary.

Manager "Shorty" Shultz was on the mound for the Champlain and he would in fine form. Two runs were registered by the Solvays in the opening inning, due to a couple of walks and a hit, to say nothing of an error. After that Shultz was in supreme command, allowing but six hits. He pitched his best in the last inning, when with men on third and second, and none down he got the next three batters, the last two via the strike out route. Adams was many games in the "old boys" good right arm yet. The loss for Selby practically means the cellar for this season, while the Solvays really think they have a chance to tie the Excelsiors. They have two games with the Steel Plant and one with Central Labor, two of which, at least, will be decided off next week. There will be no game today, but the chances are the Solvay and Central Labor will play on Monday evening of next week, with the Steel Plant and Railroaders on Tuesday. This is not definite—so watch Sunday's paper for the complete schedule.

Framing A Getaway

ER-WHY YES, DEAR, I AM GOING TO TELL YOU, BUT THE CLUB HAS MADE ME CHAIRMAN OF A VERY IMPORTANT COMMITTEE THAT MEETS TONIGHT, AND I HAVE TO BE THERE I DON'T EXPECT TO BE VERY LATE.

THAT'S WHAT YOU SAID LAST TIME YOU HAD TO WORK AT NIGHT DOWN AT THE OFFICE, BUT YOU DIDN'T GET HOME UNTIL 2 O'CLOCK. IS THAT EDDIE PERSON ON YOUR COMMITTEE?

THAT'S A NEW ONE. I'LL SAY THE BOSS IS SMARTER HE LOOKS.

JUST SO IT ISN'T RED

A new automobile law, to go into effect the 15th of August, if we mistake not the date, seeks to promote less frequency of accidents by regulating the light used at night. If it is to be obeyed, every car, except a few Fords of recent sale, will have to be equipped with new headlights. This new light, or rather the reflection of it, is to be such that it will not throw a dazzling ray above 42 inches from the ground, but it shall not be less than 4800 candle power. Attempt is made to eliminate the aggravating spot-light by the provision that no light beyond 1200 candle power shall be cast further than sixty feet and the spot-light itself, when another vehicle is approaching be turned directly to the ground, not casting its rays beyond 30 feet, or to the left center of the road.

Possibly, having some sympathy with the owner, the legislature provides that home made devices for bringing down the glare to the required conditions may be used, such as painting or coloring in some way the upper half of the light with any color, just so it isn't red.

It will be of some interest to observe how quickly and how generally the new law is observed.

NOT IN A LIFE TIME

A STOUNDING figure in the cablegrams of the day are Russia has slaughtered her horses for food and as against the 36,000,000 million that were in the empire, prior to the war, scarce any at all are now to be counted. Agricultural production, in the various provinces, has decreased anywhere from fifty to one hundred percent. Output in the towns has declined in relative proportion and there is nothing left with which there might be barter and trade. An issue of one trillion paper rubles has so depreciated the currency of the country, that it takes a bale to buy even the smallest amount of food that is for sale.

That trillion rubles is actually staggering. It goes beyond any comprehension as to numbers. It could not be so much as counted by half a dozen persons in an ordinary life time. If the paper were worth what it purports on its face, it would buy the United States and leave a little surplus of two hundred and fifty billions over.

If Germany had it, at its face worth, she could pay her indemnity ten times over and have enough left over to carry on another war as expensive as the last.

If America had it at par we would all be flying around in airplanes.

But as Russia has it she is starving and appealing to the United States to save her from death.

A WELCOME RECRUIT

THE Cincinnati Enquirer agrees with The Times that there is merit, indeed, it might be said entire merit in the proposal of Secretary Andrew J. Mellon to raise postage rates as a means of securing additional revenue.

Asserting there is no prospect of tax reduction, without the preliminary of cutting down expenses and appropriations, the Enquirer takes the matter of fact stand that increased postage, as a revenue producer is both feasible and defensible. The position that a government should make no profit out of a utility it operates is a mere economic theory. It is not justified as unvarying law. Governments must have income. If a line of business, in which they carry on, renders a valuable service, that otherwise might have to be hired, it stands to reason there is no inconsistency, or injustice in the government making a fair and reasonable charge that will produce a surplus above expenses of operation. Every private business, successfully run, is conducted on the basis that it not only provides for upkeep and profit, but something more, a surplus as an insurance against contingencies. A business that does not provide against contingencies is sure, some day, to find itself embarrassed. Neither individual, nor government, can get away from that law.

Not only in prudence should a government provide against contingencies in the utilities, which it conducts, but it should do so in justice as well. It should show no favoritism. For the general good it may be esteemed best for it to take over a certain kind of business, but not all its citizens can share equally in the benefits so, arising, some do not have part therein at all. It follows then, in order to equalize its cost, in so far as possible, that those who avail themselves of the advantages of governmental conduct should pay an equitable charge therefor and equitable charge can not be the naked cost of operation, or so insufficient as to bring an actual loss.

Employed a Substitute.

Two small city boys, visiting the country, were afraid of a horse which was quietly grazing near. They made no movement toward driving the horse away, but it was evident that they desired its absence. At last another boy, in a boy, "Oh, Billy," one of the waiting boys called to him, "Just throw a stone at that horse, will you? We're Band of Mercy, and we can't."

Ninety Year—In One Service.

Perhaps the world's record for service is held by the occupant of a grave in the churchyard at Battle, Sussex, England. This is Isaac Ingall, who died in 1798 at the age of 120. For ninety years he was in the service of the Websters of Battle Abbey. Sarah Thompson of Belfast served 83 years with one family, dying in 1895.

ARMAGEDDON AGAIN

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 3.—Armageddon is again in the spotlight. Much was heard about the prophesied Armageddon—the last battle of the world—during the last war. Now interest has been revived by the fact that an American expedition is to explore the ruins of the real Armageddon.

Armageddon, or Megiddo as it is more often called, is one of the historic places in Palestine. Here was erected the oldest known fortress in the country, and in the course of centuries seven different cities—Assyrian, Canaanite, Jewish, Egyptian, and Roman—rose within the walls. Inside this fortress city an Egyptian king trapped 119 princes of Syria and made them put dust on their heads and pay tribute to him. Armageddon was so often the scene of battles that the name became a symbol of terrible war and destruction, much as Waterloo has acquired its meaning. There some people think the last battle of the world will be fought.

The story of the most famous battle at Megiddo between the Syrian princes and King Thothmes III of Egypt can be read on the temple walls at Karnak by those versed in deciphering the handwriting of the Egyptians. Thothmes III was the king who was responsible for the obelisk now in Central Park. He is also remembered as the king who quarreled with his sister or aunt, Queen Hatsheput, over the Egyptian throne for a decade or two, and who, when she died, had her picture and name chiseled off the monuments she had built and his own put in their place. Sometimes his workmen were careless in their alterations, so that an inscription reads "King Thothmes III, she made this monument to her father Amen."

As soon as Thothmes got the kingdom to himself, he set out in his chariot with his army back of him to conquer other kingdoms, and one of his first big victories was at Megiddo.

Press Agenting a King
We should probably know little more than this if Thothmes III had not regarded himself as a person whose goings were of indubitable importance. He carried with him everywhere a secretary who did nothing but write down what His Majesty said or did on all occasions. So the battle of Megiddo was reported in detail and the latest chapter of the king's journal was sent back every day to Egypt to be deposited in the temple of Amen. This journal is not in existence today, but Thothmes insured a permanent record of his conquest by having the most important facts carried on stone walls, where they can be seen today, somewhat damaged by time, but still readable.

Megiddo was so important because it was walled city on a hill and in a strategic place on the way from Egypt to Babylon. Thothmes went directly to it and drew up his well drilled troops on the plain in front of the city. One hundred and nineteen of the princes and their warriors from different parts of the invaded country had gathered together to drive out the Egyptians, but when they met, the Syrians fled panic-stricken, and Thothmes had his official reporter record that the people of the city drew up their fugitive protectors over the city walls by their clothes, because they were afraid to open the gates even for their own people.

The Syrians escaped because the Egyptian soldiers stopped to seize and divide the beautiful gold and silver chariots—1,000 of them—and 2,000 horses and many arms forsaken in the flight.

But Thothmes was not satisfied with the plunder. He said that to take Megiddo was like taking a thousand towns, since all the important chiefs of the country were inside it, and he proceeded to starve out the city by guarding every possible entrance. Finally, Megiddo surrendered. The princes and warriors fled out of the gate and agreed to pay Thothmes yearly tribute. The city was then sacked, perhaps burned, and valuable works of art and the jewels and gold of a remarkably wealthy city carried off to Egypt, as well as such trophies as the scepter, royal tent, and furniture belonging to the King of Kadesh. Thothmes had it all recorded and went on to other unconquered regions.

This was only one of the numerous battles fought at different times at this strategic spot.

Some years ago, 1903, a German Palestine Society sent an expedition to the city now a ruin, to explore the old foundations and see if any relics of the battles were left buried there. For nearly three years the scientists worked, with his result that traces of seven cities were found in different strata below the present surface. The oldest city, they believed, furnished pieces in the masonry, or stone period. Pieces of walls, skeletons, temple and palace ruins, a seal marked as the property of "Shema, the servant of Jeroboam," king of Israel, all helped to identify the times when different civilizations held the important fortress.

Ruins Still Hold Secrets

The expedition had to give up its work before the possibilities of the site were exhausted. And later the war put a stop to any but utilitarian digging in the near east. So the ruins of Armageddon are looked upon as still holding many secrets.

The reference to Armageddon in the book of Revelation has been taken by some scholars to mean that the last war of the world is to be fought in this old traditional battle ground. The book, written as it is the events prophesied had already happened, says that the kings gathered together in the place called Har-Mageddon.

But of late years the term Armageddon has been taken more as a symbol. Some students of the mysteries of Revelation still hold that the recent war was the prophesied war of Armageddon, and that Belgium, where the fighting was begun, met the conditions of being the Armageddon referred to in the prophecy.

Some of the interpreters have been able to apply almost every mysterious reference in the book to the recent war, even to naming the hosts of the visions as the nations in the conflict, and comparing the reference to blood up to the brides of the horses to the fact that the dead were sometimes piled four and five deep, about the height of a hillside, after some battles in the World War. They found it significant to point out that the verse about halfstones weighing a talent—the heaviest measure of weight known in Bible days—coming down from heaven upon men could be applied to the heavy bombs and shells of modern warfare.

However, other scholars disagree with this and insist that the Armageddon described is a spiritual conflict. Here again they disagree and some think the prophecies refer to events expected to happen soon after the book was written, and others insist with equal positiveness that the era described has never come.

Disarmament is a step toward a new, warless age. Whether it will be a permanent success, leaving the World War indeed the last war, or whether the world is to be the scene of battles for years to come, there seems to be no modern prophet to foretell.

Clipping the Mind's Wings.

Quite early in life Mrs. Pope had realized that it is necessary to be very careful with one's thoughts. They lead to trouble. She had clipped the wings of her own mind, therefore, so successfully that all her conclusions had become evasions, all her decisions compromises. Her profoundest working conviction was a belief that nothing in the world was of value but "fact," and that the art of living was to "do things over."—From "Marriage," by H. G. Wells in the American magazine.

Bishop Was Ready for Them.

A story is told of a certain Norman bishop, who preached so eloquently against the wearing of long hair before Henry I. and his courtiers, that they gave in on the spot and agreed to have their locks shorn. No sooner had they made their decision than the wise prelate, who had provided for just such a contingency, pulled out a pair of shears from his sleeve and soon removed the curls of the whole court.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, August 3.—At 3 a. m. Manhattan's hour of deepest sleep—they creep from their phantasmic beds to the subway kiosks, dill eyed and with a silent sort of resignation. Toothless, aged women with flabby flesh turned yellow and pasty—like sour dough. Express trains whisk them under the sleeping island to the towering skyscrapers on the southerly tip end, aglow with the early morning fairland of flight.

They represent New York's vast army of scrub-women who with mop and pail, daily shine acres upon acres of mosaic and marble. On creaking ladders, their skirts bedraggled and feet sopped, they scrub and scrub until after dawn. Then like human moles they burrow their way underground again to their tenement hatches. Only a few straggling night workers or those on unusual early morning errands see them.

In the big hotels they sleep in slumy bunks on the roof and year in and out many never appear on the street. In the days when New Year's Eve was celebrated with the popping of champagne corks the hotel claret guests tossed silver dollars to see them scramble on the soapy, slippery tiles. A cruel sort of frivolity, but the scrub women looked forward to even this mild sort of contact with fellow humans.

Some are married and the majority support others. The daughter of an Equitable Building scrub woman it was revealed in court a year ago was a leading dancer in a London theatrical company. But the mother still scrubs and in her one room a reporter found newspaper pictures heralding her daughter's triumphs posted on the rough walls. A proud mother. The scrub women run to type just as the venerable white mistletoe men who act as night cashiers in the thousand one side arm lunch rooms run to type. On the subway trains in the early hours they keep up a sort of forced gaiety if no other watching—cackling at feeble jokes and bantering one another—but lack of it all is a world weariness and an apathetic hopelessness.

Very few realize how close Channing Pollock, who now writes plays and scenarios, came to being a circus man. His earliest ambition was to enter the circus business.

He applied to Buffalo Bill for a job with the Wild West Show, after getting a letter of introduction to the famous showman. Buffalo Bill looked him over and said: "All right, we'll put you in the Annie Oakley act. She will shoot an apple off the top of your head."

Pollock shouted back: "Who's going to shoot what off of whose head?"

Two summer shows are made up of idle actors who are splitting the profits equally. Most of them have been starred or featured and spend their summers at Great Neck or in Europe. This year they fear that next winter is not going to be so good. And so, as one told me: "We are going to grab it while we can get it."

Dr. Frank Crane is merely postcarding his New York friends from Paris where he has a table for two on the boulevard and with Mrs. Crane is watching the world drift by. Dr. Crane has a warm spot for Paris. When he decided to quit the ministry he had just enough money to take him to Paris where he intended to map out his future. And sitting along the boulevard came his idea for a syndicated talk and like men who syndicate their wares he found how valuable the credit of the delectable dealer is at times.

A Departed Glory

Mr. Chester S. Lord, for a generation managing editor of the New York Sun, friend and intimate associate of Charles A. Dana, whose genius as a newspaper man made the Sun the most interesting paper on earth, has reminiscences of both Dana and the Sun in a weekly magazine of recent date. The reading of Mr. Lord's valuable contribution to newspaper history and anecdotes with its references to the great personalities of the press in the years succeeding the Civil War—Greeley, Bennett, Bowles and others—gave painful emphasis to the fact that the day of great editors, and the impress of their individualities and idiosyncrasies on their papers, has well nigh passed.

In Dana's day the reputations made by editors of extraordinary gifts were comparable to those won by statesmen, judges, generals, and great preachers such as Channing, Beecher, Bishop, Simpson, and in a later day by Dr. Gurnea. These men who interpreted the news, swayed political opinion, and to a large extent directed and controlled the thoughts of millions were discussed all over the country quite as much as other conspicuous and powerful citizens.

Who knows now, or cares to know, the writers whose editorials are read daily in the big newspapers of America? The editorial "we" no longer reflects a personality to the public. The glory that was earned by Halstead of the Cincinnati Commercial, Richard Smith of the Cincinnati Gazette, Henry Watson of the Louisville Courier-Journal, the elder Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, Otis of California, and a score of others north, south, east and west, has departed, and their successors are known, as a rule, only by their personal friends and acquaintances.

Newspaper history entered a new phase when ownership ceased to reside with editors, and people ceased to know who or what number of men, wrote their favorite editorial column. It became unprofitable for great newspaper properties to promote the personal fame of the editors, so editorial writing became anonymous so far as the general public is concerned. Now the Government requires the publication of the names of owners and editors of all newspapers twice a year for the protection of the public.

Royalty Coming Down

The widowed mother of a grandson of the former Kaiser Wilhelm was deprived of her child by one of his uncles who took it to "raise," in accordance with the rules of the royal house of Hohenzollern. The mother, wanting her child after the way of mothers from the beginning, and conscious of the fall of royal rule in Germany, applied to the courts for the custody of her child, and got it.

Princess Mary of the royal house in England, fox-trotted the other night with a laboring man at a public ball in London's tough East End to the music of "Oh, Boy, What a Girl."

Unpopular Hygiene.

Having received a hygienic education, the new partner in the bakery strongly recommended a paper wrapper for every loaf of bread delivered. The old partner demurred. "No good," he said. "People won't stand for it. We tried that once and the paper got so dirty before the bread was ready for delivery that everybody canceled their orders."

Possible to Be Too Busy.

A certain business man was so very busy that he could not see anybody who called. Among 'em was a good customer, who went elsewhere—a John A. Howland.

Q. Are the teeth of the human race deteriorating?—A. V. W.

A. The Public Health Service says that comparison of the teeth of civilized white races with those of primitive races, shows clearly the inferiority of those of the present day. The teeth of civilized people are deteriorating at such a rate that in a few thousand years they will no longer possess dental organs.

Q. Who has the direction of the foreign affairs of the United States?—J. A. K.

A. The Secretary of State is charged, under the direction of the President, with negotiation of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States.

Q. Is there any difference between huckleberries and blueberries?—S. D. M.

A. In New England the distinction is very clearly drawn. The huckleberry is restricted to plants of the genus Gaylussacia, and contain large light seeds. The blueberry is applied to species of the genus Vaccinium in which the seeds, though numerous, are so small that they are not noticeable when the berries are eaten. The latter is superior from a market standpoint.

Q. Will you kindly define the difference between a "denizen" and a "naturalized citizen"?—H. W.

A. In the United States there is no distinction between the two, the terms being used synonymously. In England "denizen" signifies one who has become a citizen by letters patent from the crown, his rights dating from the time of being conferred. The rights of a "naturalized citizen" are granted by Parliament and are retroactive, and give him the same status as if he were a natural born citizen. A "denizen" is under certain political disabilities as to holding office, and is subject to taxes from which others are exempt. He occupies a middle position between an alien and a naturalized or natural-born citizen.

Q. Where was the first ice plant in the United States built?—E. C.

A. The first ice factory of importance was built in New Orleans in 1840.

Q. How can I test fruit juice to see whether it will jelly?—G. E.

A. Mix together 1 teaspoonful cooked fruit juice, 1-2 teaspoonful sugar and 1-4 teaspoonful of Epsom salts. Stir until all are dissolved and let stand 15 minutes. If the mixture sets into a jelly, the fruit juice contains the proper amount of pectin.

Q. Which is the fastest known fish in the water?—M. A. H.

A. The Barman of Fisheries says that the bonito, a member of the mackerel family, probably is the fastest swimmer, but a definite answer is not possible.

Q. How can an etching design be removed from glassware?—B. H.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that an etching design can be removed from glassware by etching the entire article, so that the surface is dissolved to the same level as the etched figure, which is probably the only chemical process that can be applied. The use of pure hydrofluoric acid usually etches glass without leaving a roughened opaque surface, so that the entire piece might be etched with this kind of acid and the surface remain transparent rather than opaque.

Actual Salesmanship.
A man may make $25 a day in his regular business, and not think much about it, but he always feels like a leading financier when he sells the old bottles in the cellar for 47 cents.—Ohio State Journal.

A Wonderful World

A little more prize and a little less blame,
A little more virtue, a little less shame.
A little more thought for the other man's rights,
A little less self in our chase for delights,
A little more loving, a little less hate,
Are all that is needed to make the world great.

A little more boasting, a little less jeering,
A little more trusting, a little less fearing,
A little less greed for a little more gain,
A little more patience in trouble and pain,
A little more kindness worked into the strife,
Are all that is needed to glorify life.

A little more honor, a little less greed,
A little more service, a little less creed,
A little more courage when pathways are rough,
A little more action, a little less bluff,
A little more kindness by you and by me,
And, oh, what a wonderful world it would be.

A Climber

"Why does Cholly insist on taking the stairs to the billiard room? He won't use the elevator any more."
"He thinks he ought to do a little climbing. He's joined the Alpine Club."—Detroit News.

The Worm Turns

"What?" exclaimed the motorist, who had run over a farmer's toe, "you want $500 for an acorn foot? Nonsense! I'm no millionaire."
"Perhaps not," cried the suffering farmer, "and I'm no centipede either."

Editorial Amenities

An old subscriber sometimes thinks there was more life in the paper of fifty years ago. That was when editors exchanged personalities. For instance:

"The insignificant insect who describes himself as the editor (!) of the absurd imitation of newspaper printed occasionally across the street and mailed to a few exchequers, deadbeats and misguided citizens, took the first prize, a very handsome smoking set, at the county fair yesterday. An unsympathetic deputy sheriff who was on guard, made him return it to its place in the show-case."—Catholic Citizen.

Regrets

A country editor was visited in his office by a foreboding-looking man, who explained excitedly:

"That notice of my death in your paper today is a lie, sir—a lie. I'll show you my public, sir, if you don't apologize in your next issue."

When the paper came out again the following notice appeared:

"We regret to announce that the paragraph in our last issue which stated that Colonel Brimby was dead, was not true."

You Tell 'Em!

"What can be more sad than a man without a country?" feelingly asked the high school teacher of her class.
"A country without a man," responded a pretty girl just as feelingly.

No Man To Support

The Sam Worker—You look like a very worthy person.
The Flattered One—Oh, I'm all right, ma'am. I manage to get along first rate. I ain't got nobody to support. I'm a single woman.

Did Very Wisely

"Fancy your getting married again, Mrs. Smale. I hope you have done wisely."
"Yes, mum; I reckon. Yew see, I've so much washing to take home now, if I didn't get a I should have been forced to buy a donkey, sure 'nough."—London Tader.

Her Qualification

"Doctor," said a young lady, "I want you to suggest a course in life for me. I have thought of journalism."
"What are your inclinations?"
"Oh, my soul yearns and throbs and pulsates with an ambition to give the world a life-work that shall be marvelous in its scope and weirdly transcending in the vastness of its structural beauty!"
"My dear madam, you're born to be a milliner!"

Make It Snappy

Mr. Assistant—I want to tender my resignation. I—
Mr. Boss—Never mind making it tender. Make it brief.—Cartoons.

No! I'll Take It

Nervous Piano Salesman (formerly a department store clerk)—Shall we send it for you?—Boston Transcript.

Quite True

"Papa, what do you call a man who runs an automobile?"
"It depends on how near he comes to hitting me."—Houston Post.

Revolutionary General's Uniform.
A Continental uniform more than 100 years old, which was once the property of General Christie of Revolutionary war fame, was one of the interesting relics of the estate of the late Margaret C. Benjamin of Ithaca, N. Y. The uniform is of white broad cloth, with silk and satin waist, breeches and satin stockings.

Only True Happiness.

Some men are born happy and others have happiness occasionally thrust upon them, but the only happiness that amounts to much in the long run is that which one achieves.—The Christian Register.
